Judge changes conviction, local man sentenced

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

During a surprise move in Wayne County Circuit Court last Tuesday, Judge Roland Olzark reduced the conviction of Richard Demarest Jr. of Romulus from first degree to second degree murder. Demarest was charged in the shooting death of his father on Jan. 9 and found guilty by a 12-member jury July 22.

Olzark had postponed sentencing twice before he announced his decision last week. He scheduled the new sentencing for 11 a.m. yesterday when Demarest was remanded to prison for 10 to 14 years.

Olzark stated, "A first degree murder conviction requires premeditation. After careful review, I just can't see where sufficient evidence exists for this charge. The decision is up to me. I have the discretion to do this. The prosecutor has the right to appeal."

Prosecuting attorney Tom

Trzcinski said he will exercise that right and appeal the decision. Trzcinski said to his knowledge, there was no precedent in the law for such a reduction.

"The jury was instructed on the murder one charge as well as murder two, manslaughter and the reckless discharge of a firearm. I know of no other judge who has ever done this. The jurors were polled, and they all unanimously agreed," Trzcinski said.

He added that while the judge announced his decision last week, he thought the jury was confused. "I don't think this was the case here. The jury heard all the evidence. The proof was there. This is unfortunate but I still asked for a life sentence," he said.

The first-degree murder charge mandates a life sentence in prison with no chance for parole. The sentence can only be commuted with a pardon from the governor, Olzark said.

"The only real difference between first degree and second degree murder convictions is that the life sentence received in second degree can be any term of years and, he would be eligible for parole," Olzark said.

Regardless of what sentence Demarest receives, he will serve a mandatory two-year term for the felony firearm charge.

The judge said the defendant's mother, Sandy Demarest, spoke on behalf of her son before the first sentencing date in August. "She was very supportive. What could be more tragic? He was a hard-working man. They were a nice, decent family. Ironically, the gun was a Christmas gift from the father. This was a classic case for gun control," Olzark said.

Early in the trial, the defense asked for a new trial on a reduced charge but the judge denied the motion, according to Steve Sonenburg, defense attorney.

'We saw the pope'

Hundreds of Romulus residents attended the departure ceremony at Metro Airport last Saturday night. Local dignitaries included Mayor Beverly McAnally, Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, Treasurer John Lewkowicz, City Clerk Linda Choate and councilmen Barry Baumann and William Wadsworth. The mayor was one of ten individuals selected to welcome the pope as he arrived Friday night.

The visit of Pope John Paul II was an emotional experience for many in the area, and especially for Romulus residents.

"He loved the bishops, deacons, stewardesses, the Catholics and non-Catholics, the vice-president. He loved us all," explained sixth grade students at St. Aloysius School in Romulus.

Their teacher, Shirlene Lyons, was waiting for one answer that never came from her students. "He especially loved children. Remember how he always kissed hugged them wherever he went?" she reminded them. Her attentive audience released a unanimous sign.

Monday, their first day back in class following the historic weekend visit, students beamed with excitement. They were encouraged by their teachers to share their experience with each other. Stories emerged about trips with their families to Hamtramck, Hart Plaza, the Silverdome or Metro Airport to see the pope.

"I could see him good. It was exciting. The best part was listening to him talk. I saw him kiss a man on a stretcher with cerebral palsy. I watched the pope and vice-president both take off in their planes," said Jason Flateau, 11, who attended the departure ceremony at Metro Airport with his family.

The children sensed a special warmth about the pope. Candy

Coak, 11, said, "He was happy just being with people. And people were happy being around him."

Principal Laura Gale admitted the past few weeks have been hectic. Students have prepared for the visit of the Holy Father with special lesson plans from the archdiocese.

"The impact of the pope on these young people is most remarkable. In fact, it's amazing," she said. "We all expected to talk and preach about peace and justice. But it was the way those ideas were communicated. Young people picked up on it. He talked about youth and their relevance in society."

Students studied and read from several quotations about youth by John Paul. Prayer services were conducted for the safety of the pope. The younger students created numerous art projects depicting some aspect of the visit.

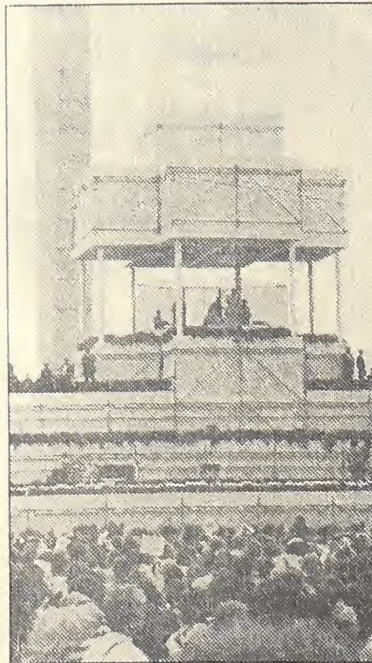

According to Gale, in the primary grades, students were shown pictures of the Holy Father and asked to simply identify him. The intermediate grades learned about the pope's concern for justice and how we are all called to develop a peaceful world. And the older grades examined some of the pope's speeches and themes of justice, peace and human dignity.

Twenty-four third graders in the class of Michele Hunter drew pictures illustrating a question, "If you could meet

One hundred and thirty parishioners from St. Aloysius parish boarded buses to bid the pope farewell on the last stop of his ten-day, nine-city United States tour. Neighbors find newborn baby Romulus police officers were called to a Meadows subdivision home last week when residents discovered a newborn baby girl in their back yard.

"We received a call shortly before noon from an Isabelle Street resident about a brand new bouncing white baby girl wrapped in plastic found in the middle of their back yard. The baby was transported to Annapolis Hospital where she was listed in good condition. A hospital spokesperson said she was in good condition and just three or four hours old. She weighed 6 pounds, 6 ounces, and was a full-term baby," said Lt. Ken Kraus of the Romulus Police Department.

"The resident said she heard something like a cat crying about 8:30 a.m., but she didn't see anything," he added.

Police canvassed the neighborhood asking residents if they had any information without results. About 3 p.m., a neighbor phoned police indicating that her 21-year-old daughter might be the mother of the baby. The resident said she never even suspected her daughter was pregnant, police reported.

Kraus said the Wayne County Prosecutor will decide if sufficient evidence exists to charge the resident with abandonment.

Once is enough Hearings discussed

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Council members will no longer conduct a second public hearing on rezoning within the city unless they reject the recommendations of the city planning commission.

Councilman Ellis Pennington, who also sits on the planning commission board, suggested the total elimination of the second public hearing, but further discussion altered his view.

Under the present guidelines, the planning commission conducts a public hearing for requests for special approval and rezoning. Another public hearing is conducted by members of city council before they approve or disapprove the request.

"I am concerned about having public hearings that are not necessary," Pennington said.

City attorney Laura Harris explained, "Whether an additional public hearing must be held by city council upon a request for an amendment to the zoning map? Our opinion is that if a public hearing had been held by the planning commission and proper notice provided for that public hearing, as required by statute . . . then council is not required to hold another public hearing unless they choose to do so."

She added that in the case of rezoning, all that is required is one hearing by the planning commission for either denial or approval. Rezoning requires no further action on the part of the city council unless and or until the petitioner requests, in writing, consideration by council.

Mayor Beverly McAnally suggested that when the council has a difference of opinion with the planning commission, "The public would feel deprived if they didn't have another chance to voice their opinions."

Councilman Barry Baumann explained that the petitioner pays for the cost of the public hearing, including the public notices.

"I don't want to have unnecessary meetings. But there will be times, like this past spring when the planning commission approved the trailer park off Wick Road near the railroad tracks and council denied the request, that public hearings should be conducted," said Baumann.

The motion was unanimously approved.

Primary Election results

Here are the official vote results of the primary election in Romulus last Tuesday. Total votes were received from the city clerk's office and approved by the city board of canvassers. A total of 1,801 votes were cast. The 14 winners will compete for seven two-year terms on the city council during the general election Nov. 3.

Information meeting targets airport noise-problem study

ROMULUS—An information meeting last night at the Romulus City Hall was designed to provide area residents with information regarding the current status and future steps for the county "Noise Compatibility Study" and "Master Plan Update," county officials said.

"When the county undertook these studies on noise abatement and future airport development needs, one of our primary goals was to involve elected officials and residents from communities surrounding the airport in our work," explained Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara about the meeting.

An advisory group was established, consisting of elected officials and area business and community leaders, McNamara said. A series of four informal public information meetings have been scheduled, and a formal public hearing on the environmental analysis of the "Master Plan Update" will also be set.

At the meeting, residents and community leaders were presented with a slide show and literature by airport personnel. Following the presentation, a question-and-answer session was staged. Audience members were also asked to complete "comment cards" for airport personnel.

County marathon planned in Middle Rouge Parkway

WESTLAND—The Third annual 20-mile Marathon Training Run has been set for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 26 in the Middle Rouge Parkway, county officials said this week.

The non-competitive training run—which is a primer for the Free Press Marathon Race in October—will begin at the Nankin Mills Picnic area. Mile markers will be in place, aid stations will be located every two miles, and times will be given for personal use if requested.

The regular Saturday road closing of the park will be extended west from Ann Arbor Trail and Edward Hines Drive to Haggerty and Edward Hines Drive for the event. For safety reasons, council officials will close the intersections of Ann Arbor Trail and Edward Hines Drive and Newburgh and Edward Hines Drive until noon.

For registration or other information, call Vic Chiasson at 261-1990.

'Teen rage' is topic of parental seminar

ROMULUS—"Teen Rage" will be the topic of a seminar and workshop at the Airport Hilton in Romulus between 1 and 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27. The event is being sponsored by Parents Without Partners Huron Valley Regional Council 34 and Families Anonymous.

During the seminar, a mock meeting will be conducted in which parents may simulate their participation in a Families Anonymous meeting. FA is a support group designed to assist in family traumas.

By seeing how the group deals with problems such as teen rage, parents will emerge from the meeting with a more relaxed attitude toward family counseling, according to program sponsors.

For more information on the seminar, contact Hall at 981-4266.

ANOTHER HUNTER SAFETY course will be sponsored by the Romulus Police Department. State law requires that all first-time hunters under the age of 17 complete four training sessions. The course will be offered from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2. On Saturday, Oct. 3, the course will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Romulus police station, 11165 Olive St. The course is free, but preregistration is required because of limited space. For information call 941-8400.

THE ROMULUS POLICE would like to thank all residents and local businesses who cooperated during the visit of Pope John Paul II into the Detroit area last weekend. "We know it was inconvenient, and we're sorry. The police department really appreciates their cooperation," said Margaret Leduc, director of emergency preparedness. A spokesperson for the department noted that there were no problems related to the pope's visit, and certain roads were never even closed. "Nothing happened. Everything was quiet and went well," they said.

AN ARMED ROBBERY occurred about 7:45 p.m. last Thursday at the gas station on the corner of Wayne and Goddard roads. Police reports indicate that the suspect entered the station with a knife hidden in his jacket. "He walked up to the counter and pulled out the knife and said, 'You know what I want.' And the attendant gave him money from the till. When he left, he was headed westbound across Wayne Road," Romulus Police Lt. Ken Kraus said. He added that there were no witnesses, and no vehicle was seen. The suspect is described as a black male, about 40 years old, 160 pounds, 5 foot, 8 inches in height with short hair.

A POTLUCK PICNIC will be offered after the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Sept. 27 by the congregation of the Community United Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend.

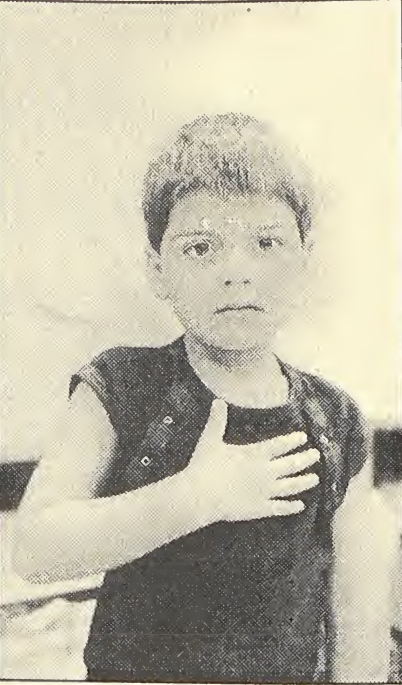

"AFTER BUSINESS, OURS" is a program offered by the Southwest Wayne County Chamber of Commerce from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Sept. 24 at the Trenton Bank and Trust Company, 1601 King Road, Trenton. "After Business, Ours," is a mini-expo offering member firms an opportunity to display products and explain services to the business community. For information or reservations, call 284-6000.

SELLING IN THE '80s will be the topic of a five-week seminar from Ralph Nicholas, a subsidiary of Dale Carnegie Courses, beginning today from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and each Thursday through Oct. 21. The course is conducted at the Charter National Bank, Biddle and Elm, Wyandotte, and is sponsored by the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce. The cost is $100 for each SWCCC member and $125 for non-members. For information call 284-6000.

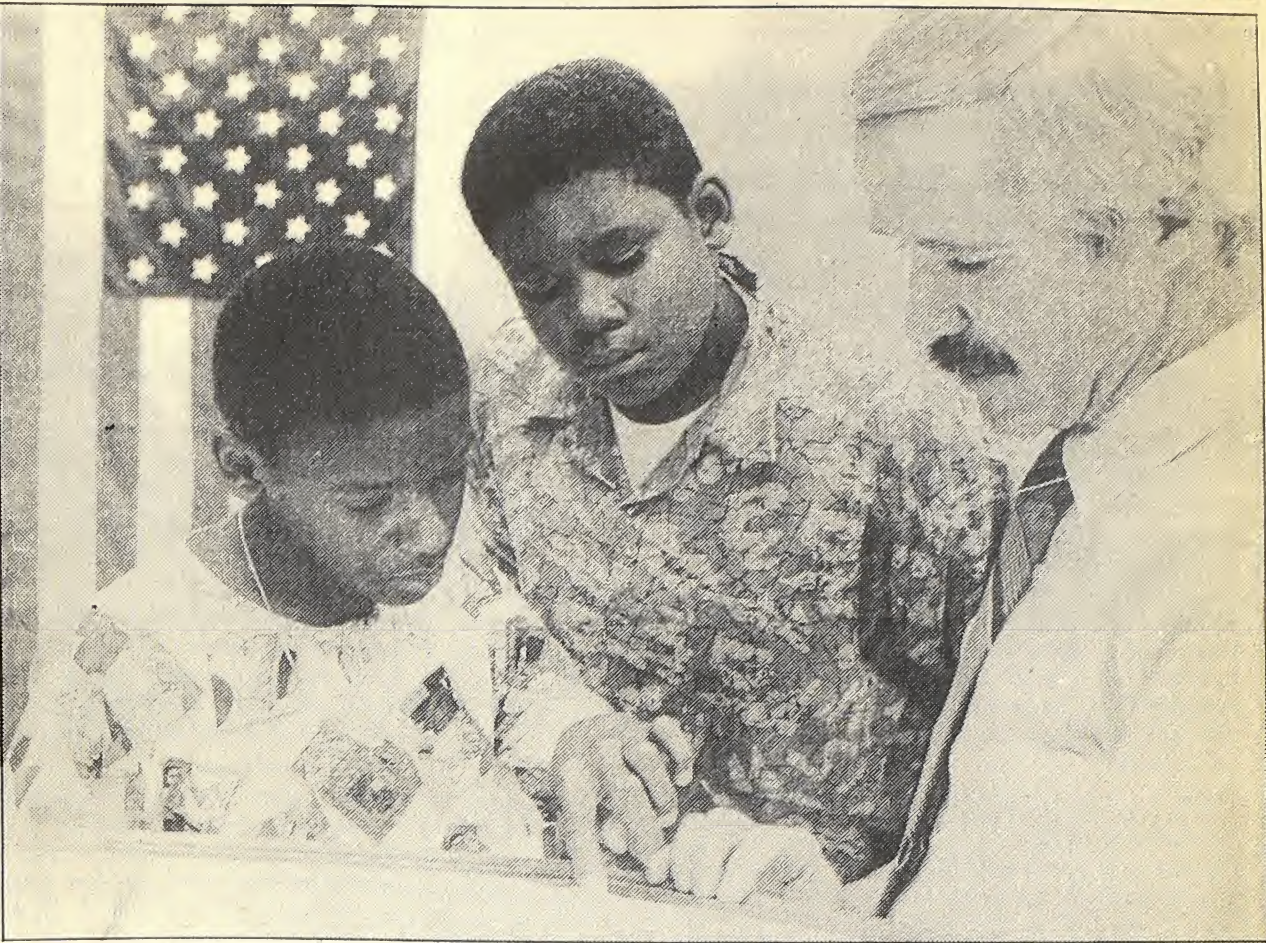

THE ROMULUS RECREATION Department has scheduled numerous dance classes, such as beginning ballet, beginning tap, aerobics, pre-school dance, intermediate jazz, beginning jazz, intermediate ballet and intermediate to be offered for a 10-week session at a cost of $15 in the recreation building at the corner of Bibbins and Shook streets. Classes begin today. For information call 942-6852.

MORE THAN 200 resolutions of thanks and appreciation have been awarded by members of the Romulus City Council to the various rescue teams for participation during the cleanup from the crash of Northwest Flight 255. Such departments and agencies as the Romulus Police Department, Romulus Fire Department, local clergy, the Red Cross, Salvation Army and several local hotels and motels have all been recognized for participating. Also honored with a special resolution are more than 25 Emergency Response Teams from surrounding communities.

I pledge allegiance

When students and adults across America stopped work and school at 1 p.m. last Thursday to recite the Pledge of Allegiance with President Ronald Reagan, they commemorated the 200th birthday of the signing of the United States Constitution. Jesse Origel, 6, (left) a first-grader at Barth School in Romulus, was proud he knew the pledge by heart. His older schoolmates, James Lipford, 12, (left) and his friend Jerry Edwards, 11, both sixth graders, made a presentation before each school class - room and talked about the Constitution. "The Constitution gave us laws so we can go where we want to go and do what we want to do. It was signed by 41 people," they said. The young scholars pointed out significant portions of the document to their principal, Bill Smith. ANP photos by Bob Denys

To be or not to be
New theater group for children begins

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Her 7-year-old son sparked an idea that was too good for Donna Mitchell of Romulus to pass up. As a result, she will now conduct the only theater group for youth in Romulus. "Brandon brought home this paper from Wick School. They wanted someone who liked theater and children. It sounded perfect," said Mitchell, 32. A native of Inkster, Mitchell graduated from Western Michigan University with a degree in communications. She has a teaching certificate and completed some work toward a masters degree. She presently works for Wayne County Community College handling public relations. Mitchell brings with her not only knowledge and experience, she's acted in several plays including "Amen Corner" and a small singing part in "Purlie", but loads of enthusiasm. "Children are the most important thing about it all. The purpose of the program is to increase and improve a student's creativity and productivity. It teaches them skills to express themselves," she said. Television has produced a generation of children whose "imaginings are stifled." "My observations of children watching television is their minds are narrowly focused. Television makes them very passive. It doesn't require hardly any thinking. This is why kids have such difficulty in school. Parents have said, 'We want our children to think more,'" she explained. In the '80s, teachers have to almost be an entertainers to hold a kid's attention. From elementary to high school, if it's not visual, they don't respond. "Thinking is a lost art," Mitchell said. Theater involves physical development including using the body to communicate feelings, emotions and thoughts, according to Mitchell. "Creativity is what it's all about," she added. The group will preform various theater games such as "Let's Pretend." They will perform a short play after the 10 program sessions are finished.

The purpose of the program is to increase and improve a student's creativity and productivity.

Students may also travel on a field trip to a local theater production in Detroit or Ann Arbor. "Students will gain theater knowledge while developing acting skills. Other strengths of the program are that children will build self-esteem by interacting with others. They'll use their creativity and imagination and have fun. This helps in other areas of their lives," she said. Success in this program can carry over to their school performance. "They build confidence and enhance their social skills. And there's no pressure. It's a safe outlet for such feelings as anger and fear. Theater is a vehicle to enjoy themselves and broaden their horizons," Mitchell said. The program begins Sept. 29 and will be conducted twice a week from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday in both Wick and Halecreek schools. The program is sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department. Information is available at 942-6852.

the pope, what would you ask him?" Most children just said they would like to shake his hand and welcome him to America. David Garcia, 8, commented, "I just looked at the pope and listened to him." Tashina, an eighth grader in Kathy Eisele's class, told her fellow classmates, "This is history in the making. I think he came to America because so many bad things are happening here, especially drugs." Ryan Kowalski, also an eighth grader, saw the more upbeat side of the pope's visit. He and his family attended mass at the Pontiac Silverdome. "We want everybody and all religions to join together. He's one of the most powerful men in the world. I'm glad I got to see him." A fellow classmate, Sarah Greene told about her great-grandmother who recently won the Michigan Lottery. "Scalpers were outside the Silverdome selling tickets. My grandmother paid $300 so she could receive communion from the pope." According to Greene, only 100 people were so privileged. Director of Religious Education at St. Al's, Jackie Malinowski-Luck lives on McDougall in Hamtramck, two blocks from where the pope spoke. "I could hear him from my porch," she said. She had originally invited about eight friends over to spend the night in preparation for the pope's visit. Instead, she had 30 overnight houseguests. Friday night from midnight on, they took turns on alternate shifts guarding 12 lawn chairs which lined Jos Campau waiting for the pope's motorcade which would pass about 8 a.m. "I had to see the pope once. If I never do it again. We could see him clearly as he sped by. We held up a banner that said, 'We love you Holy Father.' And he waved at us," she said. Luck said vendors with papal souvenirs were out in force. "The tackiest thing we saw were pope mugs, coffee cups with pictures of the pope on them. Guys were yelling,

'Have a cup of coffee with the pope.' But they were funny," said Luck with a laugh. She said she was impressed with the pope's message and his knowledge about the problems and conflicts in America. "He knew more than I thought," she said. Luck like many others when she saw the pope cried. "This man really moves you. he recognizes the need for dialogue in the church. He hugged an AIDS patient in San Francisco. He is truly a holy man. He has charisma," she added. "The pope became a real person for the kids. He was tangible. They could see and experience him," Gale said.

Sentence

The prosecution stated before the court, "The night of the killing was not the first time that verbal and physical altercations had taken place between the two parties. Immediately prior to the shooting, there was an altercation which ended when the defendant went upstairs and did not return for approximately five minutes. The evidence showed that the defendant got his deer rifle, uncased it, loaded it, walked downstairs through the living room, kitchen and sunroom to the outside, to a point approximately 28 feet from the edge of the sunroom. The defendant raised the rifle, pointed it and fired at least three shots within a three-inch radius of each other into the sunroom. All of these acts evidence a deliberate and intentional plan to shoot and kill the deceased." However, the defense and judge felt otherwise. "There's a significant difference between the penalties for first- and second-degree murder. The issue before the judge was whether there was sufficient evidence of premeditation and deliberation. In his ruling, the judge stated there wasn't. Jurors are human. The judge has the power to convict. It happens every day that court decisions are reversed," said Sonenburg. One person who has no complaints about the new ruling is the defendant who claimed from the beginning, "It was an accident." "It's working out," Dearest, 20, said. "The decision still carries life, but I don't expect a harsh sentence. The judge felt an injustice was done by the jury. Instead of granting a new trial, he found me guilty of a lesser charge. My family is very happy. Everybody was surprised by what the judge did. My mom said she wasn't. The judge felt premeditation wasn't there. I never expected my dad to walk into the room where I was shooting. As for the sentencing, I'm expecting the worst but hoping for the best," he said prior to the 10 to 14-year sentencing Tuesday.

Huron picks royal court

Five high school seniors will be vying for a bit of royalty this week, after being named to the Huron High School 1987 Homecoming Court.

Nancy Blackburn, Mercy Head, Pam Hughes, Deanna Patterson and Nicole Vitale were named to the prestigious court, school officials said Monday. The five will now represent the New Boston-based high school in Homecoming festivities, and one of the girls will be chosen queen on Friday.

The theme for the event is American classics, with a Homecoming parade on Friday featuring "classic" student-made floats. The parade begins at 4:30 p.m. on Sterling Drive and continues through town.

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned during the half time festivities of the annual football game, in which the Huron High Chiefs take on the Riverview Pirates. The game begins at 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday, the newly crowned queen will reign over the court at the annual Homecoming Ball, scheduled for 8 to 11:30 p.m. at the school.

Parents of the Homecoming court members are: Mr. and Mrs. William Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Head, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. David Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Vince Vitale.

ed like the worst mix of vegetables I could conceive, I asked with a slight smirk, if he thought he could sort them and give me just the corn. The waiter, obviously up to the challenge, paused for a thoughtful moment and replied with a grin, "Well, I suppose I could, but it might take me a while."

Finally, perhaps what might be considered here is that life is sort of like mixed vegetables. Sometimes we get surprised, and are not happy that we are served up zucchini, and sometimes we get it and find that its not so bad after all. Sometimes, we even like it.

Occasionally, we draw the beans, peas and corn mix when we were expecting zucchini and are therefore pleasantly surprised. The analogies could go on, ad-infinitum.

It is for us to find the wisdom, meaning and keys to success in life. I am convinced that the keys to successful living lie all around us. Only when we stop to analyze what is really taking place, do we encounter the opportunity to sort it all out.

But I still don't like zucchini.

See you next week.

sion mire complex than most. Whatever their nobilities or shortcomings, they are a brotherhood of dedicated, professional men and women.

During the days following the crash, I witnessed good relations developing under the most stressful conditions. I say a genuine coalition of human resources, government agencies, medical teams, firefighters, police officers, businesses, mutual aid associations. But equally important, I say private citizens looking out for each other and caring.

To all those who lent a helping hand and rendered their services, you will long be remembered by the friends and families of those who perished, by your community and by the respective groups you so ably represent. Survivors Cecilia Cichan and Lawrence Favio are living testimony of your relentless efforts.

Westland spirit cruises into gear

To The Editor:

Westland Boblo cruise on Aug. 10, let the city show "Her" finest assets.

Her residents, the warm, friendly and kind people of Westland make the best neighbors in the world. The mayor, his staff, city council and department heads are visibly proud of this city, and it shows. They are to be commended, not only for the fine job they do managing city affairs, but also for recreational and community spirit activities like the moonlight cruise.

These activities allow us to see what fine people we share our community with.

Solution not secession

If it's broken, fix it. But don't quit until you have tried. We're launching that slightly altered axiom onto the desks of a few local and state lawmakers this week, the same lawmakers who are investigating the possibility of a few localities in western Wayne County seceding from Wayne County. We think the idea, although backed by good reasons and complaints, represents an impractical solution to a fixable problem.

Canton Township Supervisor Jim Poole last week said he was directed by the Wayne County Association for Township Supervisors to investigate the possibility of forming a separate county, of which Canton Township could be a part. Poole has long been an outspoken critic of Wayne County government, citing paving and sewer problems in his own township and adjacent areas as the catalysts for his concerns.

The idea of a separate county for the area was first proposed in 1982 by then state Rep. Tom Brown of Westland and Canton. Brown's proposal could be made a reality only with the approval of the state Legislature.

The idea, in 1982, never made it to a vote by the state lawmakers . . . and for good reasons. Wayne County, although still plagued with financial worries and stains from poor management and planning in days gone by, is now safely on the road to recovery. For all of us. Economic development is now a topic. Countywide sewer plans are on the drawing boards. Branches of the county government are again working in harmony, and a positive future can be eyed by all who live here.

Still, the problems have not all been solved. True, as Poole argues, county officials have at times been less than helpful in solving local environmental concerns, problems with the state Department of Natural Resources and certain road and sewer concerns. In addition, county officials have not always appeared to have the needs of western Wayne County in their primary frame of reference.

But all of these problems are fixable - without an idea so drastic and impractical as a succession by the separate parts of the whole.

After all, this is America. We elect new leaders when we are discontent with the ones now in office. We write new laws to replace those which are of no use to us. We make amendments to our Constitution when we feel the time is right - but we don't throw our hands up and start from scratch each time our problems begin to overwhelm us.

Starting a new county sounds easier than it would be. There is the action by the state Legislature. The establishment of a charter. Election of officials. Establishment of road departments, environmental departments, health departments, courts, aging departments, programs for the needy - and the list could continue at great length, but the point would lack any merit.

Local lawmakers should not be spending their time - your time - discussing ways to quit and walk away from what they have had a hand in creating. Local lawmakers should not be looking for ways to give up without first offering ways to give in and offer concrete, useful answers.

The time is now to solve the county problems and improve what we already have. The time is now to give what is already a positive start for the county government a chance to grow and be nurtured by all participating cities and townships into a strong economic and social base of which we can all be a part.

Quitting, we are afraid, is not the answer. That proposal is an impractical one.

Finding solutions to our problems, making constructive suggestions, supporting the establishment of Wayne County as it now stands should be goals for all us.

Don't tell us about ways to bail out. We want to hear how we can make this ship sail smoothly again - so we can all benefit.

Mixed vegetables

My wife claims that I can philosophize about nearly anything. Obviously, my faithful readers know that this is simply not true. I am just a man with keen observations about life. Susan, however, the perennial editor, howled when I mentioned briefly my planned topic for my column this week. She claimed I had, once and for all, proven her theory.

Not true. She's wrong and I told her so. The subject of my dissertation this week is very serious and worthy of consideration and comment. Furthermore, I'm sure any number of people have shared my observations about zucchini.

Yes, zucchini. Of course, it really is better known as mixed vegetables. But a rose by any other name...

An occupational hazard of the newspaper business is the infrequency of home-cooked meals. When both husband and wife keep the same hours demanded of this profession, cooking (and sometimes even eating) are way down on the list of priorities. Therefore, we eat in restaurants, often.

We have become familiar with the routine of food preparation and service in nearly every restaurant in the immediate and not-too-distant area. We are also connoisseurs of both the service and the food in these family establishments. What I don't understand is why they continue to lie to me when I'm such a good customer.

I have concluded through all this experience, that the vegetable that can be produced and then served most inexpensively must be the aforementioned zucchini. Not too long ago, our waiter or waitress would take our dinner order and inquire as to our preference of vegetable. The choices seemed always to be "peas, corn or beans." Now, when our orders are taken, we are nearly always informed that our selection will be complemented by "mixed vegetables."

Now that's a lie. Mixed vegetables means zucchini. Once in a great while, they might mix up some squash or a few carrots with it, but if the waiter says mixed vegetables, what he means is zucchini.

I hate zucchini. I never used to hate zucchini, but the absence of truth that seems to pervade the atmosphere when it is served has soured me forever on the creatures. Nonetheless, it seems that there is something to be learned in all this, just as we can learn from almost anything in life.

In the case of the veggies, it gives one pause to realize that because we became accustomed to a certain standard or set of choices, then we expect it to be as it was forever.

Yet life is a matter of economics. If zucchini is a means for restaurant owners and operators to hold down costs in order to keep them operating at a profit, then zucchini is what we'll find on our plate.

I have not as yet verified my suspicions but can't you envision restaurant patrons raising their eyebrows and scowling when told that the vegetable of the day is the "Z" word?

Therein is yet another lesson to be learned, and that is if we change the label on items, consumers lower their resistance, and in the end discover that it is not so bad after all.

People do not change habits easily, but once they have changed to a new norm, then they are even more disinclined to change from that new habit or persuasion.

The reason that so much money is spent to institutionalize "brand names" and install them in the minds of the consumers is that in so doing consumers will know what to expect and will be pleased with the end result.

Whether the name is Holiday Inn, McDonalds, Kelloggs, or Ford Motor Company, name recognition brings a feeling of familiarity, sort of like dealing with an old family friend.

Let's face it, we like to be comfortable and humans are not comfortable with uncertainty. Further, our species is well known for our tendency to take the line of least resistance and the line of least resistance is staying with things familiar and well known.

I recall a number of years being asked by a waiter if I would care for "stewed tomatoes and corn?" Inasmuch as much as that sound-

Sports coverage receives praise

To The Editor:

I would like to take this time to offer my thanks and express my appreciation for the excellent coverage afforded to the Westland Mickey Mantle baseball team for the accomplishments of the past season.

Although the team has won other national honors in the past and was given news coverage, your efforts this year far outstripped anything ever given us before.

The coaching staff, players, parents, and members of W.F.B.C. are greatly appreciative of the time and effort you have given.

Crime comments not warranted

To The Editor:

In reference to article quotes Mr. Stanley Clayton, a criminologist with the Clinic for Human Improvement, Inc., Detroit, as finding that "...the general public has a very poor understanding of crime." That statement is absurd. My travel agent, Mr. Tom Kelly of Wayne-Metro Travel is a member of the general public, and he understands the problem very well. The problem is that a human that has not been "improved" walked into his place of business last year, pointed a loaded gun at him and then pistol-whipped him with it. This "unimproved human" wanted something he had not earned: money.

To have a philosophically warped individual (Clayton) say that "...crime is an excellent measure of the quality of how a society is serving its citizens..." is disgusting.

How could Tom serve more? Perhaps he could buy the dope and personally deliver it to the robber? Maybe Tom could have obtained the robbers' name and address and mailed him the profits from my ticket purchase. This is the premise underlying Clayton's absurdity. Well I, for one, am glad that I live in Wayne where a thinking individual is in charge of public safety. Ray LeCornu is correct. Arrest these people that are committing the crimes or at least detour them from our city to other cities. Getting them off the streets of our community is the answer.

Wayne festival another success

To The Editor:

As a resident of Wayne as well as being secretary of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, I would like to express a "Thank You" to the festival commissioners for another enjoyable Wayne Homecoming festival.

I wonder if very many people truly realize the tremendous amount of time and energy expended by each of these people in the planning for and operating of this event.

Hats off to Kathy Beercy, Bev Compbell, Sam Carneross, Mark Chortapain, Hoey Gresebower, Ruth Clark, Larry Hoffman and Sharon Popek. You did another great job.

Community help lauded in crash

To The Editor:

No community, however small, is immune to natural or man made disaster and the emergency conditions that follow. We owe thanks to the countless people who gave so generously of their time and knowledge immediately following the tragic crash of Northwest Flight 255. To the victims' families, my heartfelt sympathy and prayers; to the hundreds of people who unselfishly offered their talents and skills, my deepest gratitude.

The circumstances surrounding serious accidents cause trauma for everyone, victims, witnesses, volunteers, and professionals and the reactions are as varied and unique as the individuals involved. Trauma and upheaval are part and parcel of the police officer's job. Academy training often emphasizes the violence and dangers, and teaches that tragedies are part of the job. The professional and compassionate performance of the police officers from every department, who responded to the disaster scene, deserves our praise and admiration. Being involved in situations where people are alive one minute, and dead the next, confronts the officers directly with the finiteness of life. Law officers are human beings dealing with the trials, tribulations and joys of profes-

Groups bring native land close to home

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

They call it the great American melting pot. English. Irish. Scottish. Afro-American. All types have settled here to assume a new nationality, a new sense of belonging.

But what about the family ancestries? The polkas and the folk music. The ethnic dishes and the heirlooms from the old country.

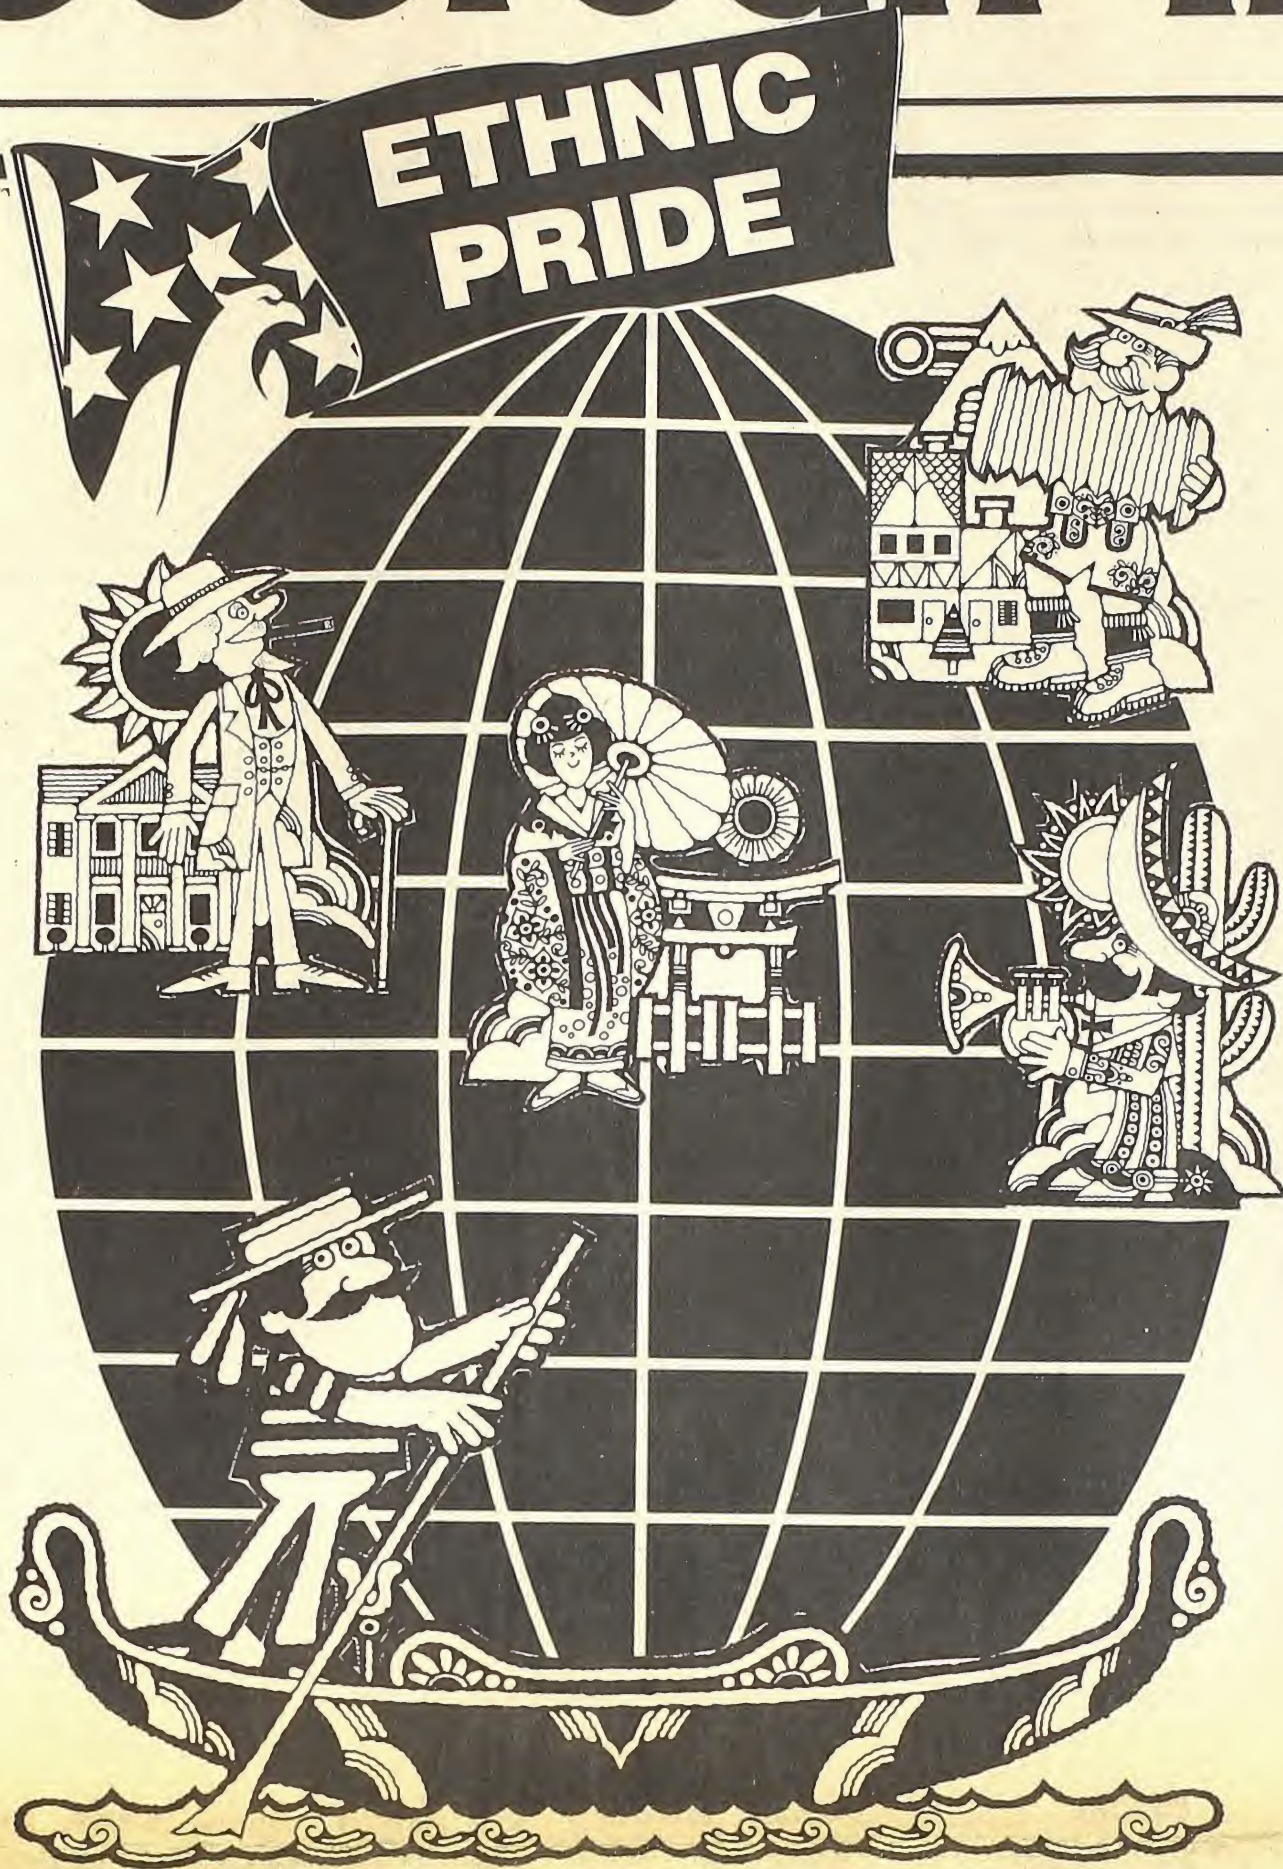

No, these pieces of the past were never shed at the borders of this great America. And these bits of ethnic heritage will never completely fade from the family name-sake and lineage, according to officials from several ethnic organizations in the area, who say holding on to a sense of ethnic heritage is normal and psychologically needed for the average person's everyday lifestyle.

Hwa Stacy, executive director of the Wayne-Westland YMCA, moved to the United States from Seoul, South Korea, in 1964, after deciding to attend college in the U.S.

She became involved in several Korean organizations in the area - including the Korean Society of Detroit, Korean Women's Association and Korean American Housing Inc. - in order to find fellowship and social assistance for life in America.

"We like to discuss issues that are very prevalent today in the United States, so that we are able to keep up with what it going on. We're there for people of our ethnic origin who feel they've been discriminated against or if they just want to talk to someone of their own kind, who might be better able to understand them," Stacy explained.

While each of the three organizations to which she belongs are separate, the way in which the groups are operated is essentially the same, Stacy said.

"We have dances and family gatherings. We eat foods that originated in our country. We compare notes on how we handle any possible cultural differences that we may encounter. It's just a general togetherness that we all feel."

But, Stacy said, while she and other Korean-Americans do enjoy talking about their cultures, they also maintain a sense of pride in being American citizens.

"This is our chosen country. We were not forced to be here, and we want to make it in this country. Ethnic organizations simply enhance our lifestyles and act as a support group for us."

Enhancement of a lifestyle and maintaining a family bond are likewise, what one local ethnic group does for Fred Pascaris and his overseas relatives.

Pascaris is the president of the parish council of the Saints Constantine and Helen's Greek Orthodox Church, which recently relocated after 57 years to Westland from Detroit.

The recently opened cultural center, located on Joy Road, is where the more than 700 members of the Greek organization mix business, religion and recreation.

"Many of us often get together at the cultural center after church with our families to enjoy exchanging our cultural heritages. We do a lot of the things that we would do in the old country, such as Greek dancing and fun things like that," Pascaris said. "This is all important to the preservation of our ethnic heritage. We need to introduce our youngsters to our culture so that they can carry it on to their children someday, too."

Pascaris added that ethnic-group affiliation is psychologically beneficial to all people, who need a sense of belonging and ethnic heritage to live normal lives.

"I believe that it is important for all ethnic groups to remember that they cannot forget who they are," Pascaris said. "They may become 'Americanized' in nearly every way, but they need to always be proud of their heritage."

"By belonging to ethnic organizations, (people) can continually reinforce that pride. It's great to be here in America, but we are who we are, and we should all be proud."

Ethnic sense of belonging is part of human nature

The American "melting pot" is still taking in a variety of new immigrants each year, and each new American must face similar problems of adjustment and assimilation into an unfamiliar culture.

Regardless of whether the immigrants are uneducated and unskilled refugees or well-educated professionals, the individual must face the culture shock of new ideas, values and surroundings, according to psychologists and sociologists.

Although the inscription on the Statue of Liberty reads, "give us your huddled masses yearning to breathe free," a welcome hand is not always extended to immigrants. At times they must face some hostility and bigotry from people who may see them as a threat to their job security or who do not respect their ethnic uniqueness.

The ethnic makeup of the 600,000 legal immigrants who enter the country annually has changed dramatically since the great waves of immigration that began in the early 1800s. At that time, more than 90 percent of new Americans came from Europe, five percent from the Western Hemisphere and less than one percent from Asian countries. Today, statistics reveal that less than one-quarter of immigrants originate from Europe, more than 45 percent originate from Canada, Mexico and the West Indies and more than 40 percent are from Asia.

In 1985 Mexico, the Philippines, Korea (both North and South), Vietnam and India contributed the largest number of immigrants. Following those countries were China, the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, Iran and the United Kingdom, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. In contrast, between 1820 and 1950, the largest single group of immigrants were Germans with some 6.2 million. During the same period, some 5 million Italians, 4.6 million Irish and 4 million British immigrated to the United States.

Although Asian immigrants have settled throughout the United States, many are residing in California. A recent study, published in Psychology Today revealed many of the problems that face four groups of Asian immigrants who settled in the San Diego area. Overall, the study revealed that 75 percent of the refugees were living below the poverty line and about 60 percent were on welfare. The study showed that almost 45 percent of the refugees were experiencing clinically significant distress - more than four times the rate of the general population. It was also discovered that despite the differences in income, family size and background, most of the refugees went through a similar period of "exile shock" - the delayed realization that they are cut off from their families and old way of life with little chance of returning.

The strain of adjustment usually peaks during the refugees' second year. The first year is a high period when refugees report the greatest feelings of happiness and satisfaction. In the same magazine article, another sociologist reported that Mexican immigrants go through a similar period of strain and adjustment. The study showed that the new immigrants felt they were in "the promised land," but later began to feel estranged and alienated.

Local personalities reflect on their heritage

Dr. Dennis O'Neill

"I grew up with a strong Irish background, since my parents were both born in Ireland. Because neither of them had a real complete education, it was real important to them that their children did."

St. Patrick's Day was always a major holiday for us. Irish families are usually very tightly-knit, and that's how it was growing up in our home. Though I've never been to Ireland, I still hope to get there someday."

- O'Neill is the superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community School.

Mary Hatten

"My mother was German and Polish. Her family had been in Detroit forever. We moved to Romulus when I was young. The city had only about 5,000 people, mostly of Polish descent and predominantly Catholic. Because I was Czech, I kind of fit in. I just sat in the back of church a little further," she said.

- Hatten is a first-generation Romulus resident.

John Zech

"My mother is a first-generation American," said Zech. "My grandparents on my mother's side came here from different villages in Greece, and were married in Detroit."

"We grew up on a lot of Greek costumes and with a lot of Greek traditions. We had certain Greek costumes on New Year's Day and Easter with a special meal."

- Zech is the assistant city manager of the city of Wayne.

Gil White

"My background is solid U.S.A., nothing foreign about it for several recent generations. My son recently completed a family tree and located some early roots in Ireland. I'm sure somewhere there's a family coat of arms. My mother was basically French. Family history doesn't really interest me. I get along fine with my brother and three sisters. That's good enough."

- White is president of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek

"I'm a proud combination of Polish and Hungarian. I grew up seeing the hard times and the best times. People of my ethnic background have strong morals, are hardworking, have compassion for other people... and we make the greatest pierogi and homemade soup in the world!"

- Kozorosky-Wiacek is a member of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools Board of Education.

Norma Collop

"My family is part Indian, and I remember me and one of my brothers going to Canada to visit our grandparents. We would sit out on the porch of the store they owned and wave to people walking by."

"It was fun because they thought we were real Indians."

Collop is also part Irish.

- Collop is the Wayne city clerk.

Connie Madison

Connie Madison of Romulus talks with pride about a family heritage that dates to long before the Civil War.

"Family reunions have been a tradition in our family since the 1920s. As far as I know, we've had one ever since. Relatives recall the days when separate drinking fountains were used by blacks and whites in Alabama."

- Madison is the secretary to Romulus mayor Beverly McAnally.

Joseph Benyo

"I'm a first generation Hungarian. My parents and grandparents are from 'the old country.' I knew the Hungarian language even before I knew English, but somewhere along the line, I lost the ability to speak it. It happened after the people with whom I could speak it eventually died and I just didn't have anyone to carry on a conversation with anymore."

- Benyo is a municipal consultant for the city of Westland.

Charles "Trav" Griffin

"I'm a razorback! I was born and raised in Kaiser, Ark., where I lived on a 40-acre cotton farm."

I can remember what it was like to live without electricity for the first nine years of my life. Living on a farm taught my siblings and I a good work ethic, disciplined us and made me realize that it wasn't the lifestyle that I was cut out for."

- Griffin is the mayor of the city of Westland.

Some call it "galomke," others call it "stuffed cabbage." But "pigs in a blanket" is an equally fitting term.

A lesson in word choice? No, but it is a lesson in ethnicity in cooking. cooking that continues to be a major part of even the most all-American of kitchens.

Ethnic foods are in the culinary mainstream of the 1980s, according to local cooks, who point to kielbasa, nachos, chop suey and spaghetti - and the popularity of theses "all-American" dishes - to illustrate their theory.

Jackie Lewis, of Wayne, has a family history deeply rooted in the South. But her father has a few English connections, and Jackie... well, she still has a particular craving for Polish recipes.

"I try to do a little of everything. I just copied several Polish recipes from an older friend of mine. I intend to use them," Lewis explained.

But Lewis' great American melting pot in the kitchen does not stand alone.

Pam Miracle, of Belleville, is a gourmet cook by nature. She loves exotic recipes, although she'll take a Chinese meal over a gourmet spread any day.

"(But,) I have no preference for any specific ethnic food. I enjoy Chinese because of its many colors and textures," Miracle explained. "But as long as the food looks good..."

Here are a few of the favorite ethnic recipes submitted by some of our readers.

ITALIAN CREAM OF CHICKEN CASSEROLE

- 4 chicken breasts, no skin
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 8-ounce package of Colby cheese
- 8-ounce package of Monterey Jack cheese

Boil chicken for 20 minutes and cool. Remove chicken from bone and place chicken strips in casserole dish. Add condensed cream of chicken soup. Grate both cheeses together. Sprinkle on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes. Serves 6.

SOUTHERN CHIFFON CAKE

- 2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup oil
- 2 egg yolks
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon lemon extract
- 2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Step 1: Measure and sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Step 2: Add oil, egg yolks, water, lemon extract and vanilla to flour mixture. Pour batter over beaten egg whites and fold in. Pour in ungreased tube pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes and at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Turn pan upside down on top of pop bottle until cool.

ENGLISH YORKSHIRE PUDDING

- 4 tablespoons juice from beef roast
- 3 eggs, beaten slightly
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 4 tablespoons melted butter

Beat ingredients with electric mixer until smooth. Cover shallow baking dish with butter. Pour mixture into dish and bake for 35 minutes at 425 degrees. Pudding should puff very high and be bumpy. It will fall after it cools outside of the oven.

CHINESE STIR FRY CHICKEN AND VEGETABLES

- 5 tablespoons peanut oil, divided
- 5 slices fresh ginger root, divided
- 1 clove finely minced garlic
- 1 whole chicken breast, skinned, boned and cut into thin strips
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon pale dry sherry
- 2 teaspoons chicken bouillon (optional)
- 1 green bell pepper, sliced into strips
- 1 red bell pepper, sliced into strips
- 1 large tomato, seeds and pulp removed, cut into strips
- 1 small stock broccoli, cut into flowerets
- 1/2 small head of cauliflower, cut into flowerets
- 1/3 pound snow peas, stems removed (or 1 package frozen snow peas, thawed)
- 1 small zucchini, ends removed, cut into strips

- 1 bunch green onions, tops included
- 1 can sliced water chestnuts
- 1 can sliced bamboo shoots
- 1 tablespoon chicken bouillon
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in:
- 1 cup chicken stock or canned broth; and
- 1 tablespoon dark sesame seed oil

Mix chicken strips, cornstarch, sherry and chicken bouillon together and let stand while preparing vegetables.

Heat wok or fry pan on high. Add 3 tablespoons peanut oil and heat. Add three slices ginger, stir frying constantly for one minute.

Add broccoli and cauliflower flowerets. Stir fry one minute. Add 2 tablespoons water.

Cover and let vegetables steam for three to four minutes. Remove cover. Add remaining vegetables and stir fry for two minutes.

Season vegetables with one tablespoon chicken bouillon. Remove to bowl. Add two ginger slices and garlic to oil. Stir fry constantly for one minute.

Add marinated chicken and stir fry quickly just until pink is gone. Remove to bowl with vegetables.

Place chicken broth with dissolved cornstarch in wok or fry pan. Stir until clear, thick and bubbly. Add vegetables and meat.

Add sesame seed oil and toss until warm through - one or two minutes. Taste and adjust seasoning with additional chicken bouillon and remove ginger slices. Serve with rice.

Suggestion: Cook 1 1/2 cups of long grain rice in 3 cups of chicken stock or canned broth.

Serves about eight.

Freud should have tasted these

In the midst of one of my usual fits of anxiety last week attempting to fight deadlines, uncooperative staff members, and machinery that defies every law of nature, my first-born son had the audacity to suggest that it had been a long time since I baked him any cookies.

When I managed to regain a modicum of composure, I had to admit, he was right. I haven't made cookies in a long, long time.

It might help to explain that when I am attempting to solve problems, mine or otherwise, I find baking therapeutic. During the most major crisis of my life, my family was nearly asphyxiated by chocolate fumes which emerged from the oven and refrigerator. We had mousse, pudding, cakes, tortes, eclairs, pies and other and assorted pastries. But we also had cookies...dozens of them. So my son's request was not that outrageous and he convinced me that he was only trying to help me rid myself of the stress-induced adreneline poisoning my system.

Obviously, I am no match for this kid.

Here is one of my favorite cookie recipes, a little out of the ordinary, but excellent for snacking. Enjoy.

sue willert speaking

- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Pecan halves, if desired

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. In large bowl, blend all base ingredients until crumbly. Press mixture into ungreased 15x10 inch jelly roll pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 or 20 minutes until lightly browned.

In small saucepan, melt caramels with 1/4 cup whipping cream and 1/4 cup margarine until smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in 1 cup powdered sugar and pecans. (Add additional cream if needed for spreading consistency.) Spread over base.

In small saucepan over low heat, melt chocolate chips with 2 tablespoons whipping cream and 1 tablespoon margarine until smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in 1/4 cup powdered sugar and vanilla. Drizzle glaze over filling. Cut into bars and decorate each with pecan half if desired. Should make 48 cookies.

Incidentally, my son did get his cookies...although his brother got into the bowl and ate half of them. Sometimes, the Lord really does work in mysterious ways.

City slates park concert

Back by popular demand, the Westland Cultural Society will be hosting another "Concert in the Park".

The next concert is scheduled at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4, in the same location as the first event of this type, the gazebo at Central City Park on Carlson Road just off Marquette.

The first concert in August, which featured a "big band swing" sound, was so successful that the cultural society decided to have another one, with a different type of music, according to a society spokesman.

Entertaining will be the Silver Strings Dulcimer Society, with music more on the classical side.

The event is free to the public.

Andy's is a well-kept secret

By RAY DAY
ANP Managing Editor

He calls it the best-kept secret in town. And, oh, how he knows his secrets.

He is Andy Jartz. His secret? Andy's Town Lounge on Michigan Avenue in Inkster.

I must admit, I have driven down Michigan Avenue west hundreds of times, never once coupling the building with the neon lights with fine food, good taste and excellent service. Never before did I think that once inside the building I would find a pleasant dining atmosphere, a terrific menu and friendly employees who would try to make this the best meal I had yet sampled.

And to think that I've been missing out on all this for so many years . . .

Me and my fiancée, Debbie – who is now an expert at these restaurant reviews, pointing out to me the professional attributes of restaurants on each of our dining adventures (I think she is trying to “show me up,” and the next thing you know, she'll even want to write these reviews . . .) – walked into Andy's late Friday night. We were greeted by Jartz – who, along with brother Henry, is carrying on the business started by his father in the 1950s. We were quickly led to our candle-lit table and offered a cocktail.

We both opted for the strawberry ice cream drink – a wise choice – and were given a brief history of the business by Andy Jartz.

Without hesitation, our waitress for the evening, Rose Nossal, was ready for our order. But first, Nossal, just as any good waitress should, offered a few suggestions of her own. I took her up on the roast prime rib of beef, and Debbie ordered the Andy's Small Town Steak, an 8-ounce, Delmonico cut of beef, cooked to perfection. Jartz told me Debbie's dish was one of the most popular at the eatery, and after sampling it, I would never argue the point.

Rose – who stunned me with her helpfulness, although I shouldn't have been surprised in light of the fact that she has been working at the Town Lounge for more than 20 years – brought our salads and a basket of warm bread. But wait. This wasn't your garden-variety salad either. No, this salad was a taste-tempting blend of freshly made dressings and fresh-cut vegetables and toppings.

After tasting the salad, I knew my stomach was in for a real treat.

Now came what we had both been waiting for. My steak was cooked to perfection – just the way I like it. Debbie's was too.

Lean, tender, juicy . . . I have never tasted prime rib this good. And Debbie's entree? Out of this world!

Dessert was offered to us, but we both kindly declined, considering the fact that we both were able to finish only one-half of the food given us.

Andy's secret to restaurant success is obviously found in the quality of the food. But the staff at the business is equally as impressive.

According to Jartz, many of the current employees are long-time workers for the family. Many members of the family are involved in the eatery, as well.

“My son's name is Andy, too. Why not? It's cheaper than changing the sign!” Jartz said with a smile.

Andy's is for the casually dressed, the formally dressed and anyone dressed in between. Prices are reasonable – my prime rib was $12.75, Debbie's steak was $8.95 – and the atmosphere is relaxing. A full bar is offered, and all major credit cards are accepted.

Andy's Town Lounge is located at 26660 Michigan Ave. westbound, west of Beech Daly Road, Inkster. Hours are 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Friday, 4:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday and 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday. Andy's is open for lunch, dinner and drinks. Call for more details, 563-7752.

Health tests offered

The “Discover Good Health” program at Peoples Community Hospital Authority has added free, in-home health testings to their range of services.

People who are unable to make screening dates for routine physical examinations and testings can now utilize a service which brings health care into their own home.

To be eligible, participants must be a Wayne County resident, 60 years of age or older and home-bound, or have limited access to medical care or transportation problems. Further information regarding this service is available by calling the Peoples Community Hospital Authority at 295-5330.

5 reasons to go to Windsor next Saturday

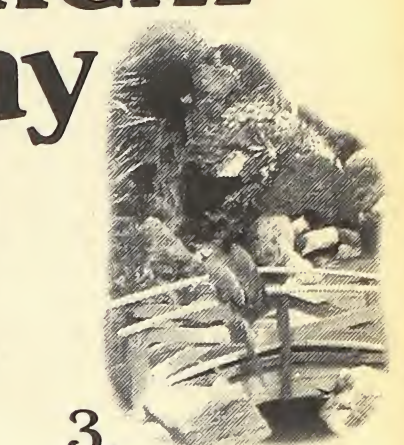

1. Like beaches? There's over a dozen of them in Windsor's Essex County. In fact, there's over 25 miles of beachfront on our Lake Erie coast and Lake St. Clair. Get a great tan. Watch the waves roll in. Or just wiggle your toes in the sand. Where else are you going to find beaches like these?

2. Kids of all ages love Bob-Lo. When you take the boat from Amherstburg, the ride's a little shorter and costs a little less.

4. Go to Windsor for the the nightlife. Like jazz? Like rock-n-roll? How about bluegrass or bagpipes or pops or symphony? If you're looking for a little night music, you've come to the right place: Windsor.

3. Imagine a place where lush tropical vegetation grows in profusion. It's not the Amazon, it's not deepest Africa, it's Colasanti's Tropical Gardens.

5. You can have lunch or dinner right on the water at places like Windsor Hilton, Smitty's-on-the-River or Lakeshore Terrace Hotel down in Kingsville. Because Windsor Essex County is practically the world capital of waterfront restaurants.

Actually, there are more than five reasons to go to Windsor next weekend. In fact, no one really knows how many there are. Go to Windsor for a walk along the beach, a stroll in the park or take a ferry ride to Pelee Island. It's more than a way to get out of the house. It's a way to have a good time. Just say...

Let's go to Windsor!

Eye to Eye ...

Why would anyone want to spend the morning at our eye clinic?

Because it's better than spending the night at the hospital. When you have a cataract removed, it's a great event, and we think you should rise to the occasion — not spend the night. You don't need to spend the extra money and time away from your family.

So spend the morning at the area's only outpatient eye surgery facility. We'll remove your cataract, serve you, then send you home. Because we know you've got better things to do with your time.

CHURCH CALENDAR

Rummage sale is planned

Friday

The ANNUAL FALL RUMMAGE Sale of the First United Methodist Church of Wayne will take place in their Fellowship Hall from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, Sept. 26. The church is located across from the Wayne Post Office. Saturday will be dollar-a-bag day.

Sunday

The COMMUNITY UNITED METHODIST Church, 11160 Olive St., Romulus, invites all members and friends of the church for a fall rally and homecoming. A picnic will follow the morning program, which includes Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. Carolyn Landis will be teaching an adult class studying foundational principles of Christian Faith, one of two new classes which have been started for the church school. J.D. Landis will teach a teen class on the Holy Spirit. Other classes are offered. Bring a dish to pass.

"MAKING THINGS RIGHT When Things Go Wrong" — a full color film series about the problems faced by everyone — will begin at the Wayne Church of Christ, 3789 Venoy Road (one block south of Michigan Avenue), Wayne. The five-film series features the humor and practical advice of Dr. Paul Faulkner. The first film in the series, "Choose a Positive Disposition," is set for 6 to 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 7, with other films following each Sunday. "Act Better Than You Feel," "Cut Your Line When It's Tangled," "Keep Cool, Even When You're Hot" and "Make Your Relationships Right" are other titles in the series. There is no charge for viewing the films. Further information is available by calling 721-1057.

Coming Up

An EXCHANGED LIFE CONFERENCE presented by the Grace Fellowship of Colorado has been scheduled for Oct. 1 through 3 at the Trinity Presbyterian Church, 10101 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. Topics to be covered during the conference include "The Rejection Syndrome," "How to Appropriately the Exchanged Life," a video-taped counseling interview, "Process to the Cross," "Accepting Your Righteousness," "The Believer's Victory" and "Setting the Mind." There is a $55 registration fee, which includes a syllabus, at the door. Preregistration is also available by calling 434-6605. Once you have paid the original fee, you may return to any of the conferences across the state for a $10 alumni fee. Books and tapes will be available at the conference.

A SALAD LUNCHEON is being planned at St. Matthew Lutheran Church, 5885 Venoy Road, north of Ford Road, Westland. The annual Harvest Fest features a luncheon card party and mini-bazaar. The event is from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Oct. 29. Card playing will continue until 3. Tickets are available for $4 each from Sharon Hindle, 721-5094 Ethelmae Sanders, 421-3639, or Bart Drange, 729-3684.

WE'RE OUT FOR BLOOD.

GIVE BLOOD

Built on tradition Churches are at base of history

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The first settlers who made the trek across the swampy roads of southeast Michigan brought with them their religious faith. This great faith is now evident in the number of historic churches dotting the area.

Among the oldest church buildings in the area is the First Baptist Society, built at the corner of Third and Main streets in Belleville in 1841. The building has since been remodeled for business use, according to local historian Cathy Horst.

Horst, who is the author of a local history book, said the first organized religion came to the Belleville area in 1835 when Clark and Hannon Horner built a log cabin and offered Methodist Church services. Today, that congregation is the Faith United Methodist Church of Denton. The most recent church building for the congregation was built in 1869.

In Romulus, the oldest existing church building stands at the corner of Five Points in the form of the Methodist Episcopal Church. According to church historian and 50-year member Dr. Henry Atyeo, the present building was built in 1856.

"The community surrounding the church was called Pullen's Corners at the time. The roots of the church go back to 1838. The most interesting fact about the early church is that it was branch of the underground railroad which assisted runaway slaves in their journey to freedom. There were hiding places under the building and a trap door under the pulpit," Atyeo said.

In the city of Wayne, the first established congregation, according to local historian Hank Gowdy, was the First United Methodist Church. It was established in 1832.

"They were part of a circuit in the Ohio conference. The first meetings were conducted in the Krieder barn. The first white child born in the village of Wayne was Marie Krieder in 1834. She was also the church's first baptism. The cornerstone of the first church building was laid in 1862," Gowdy explained.

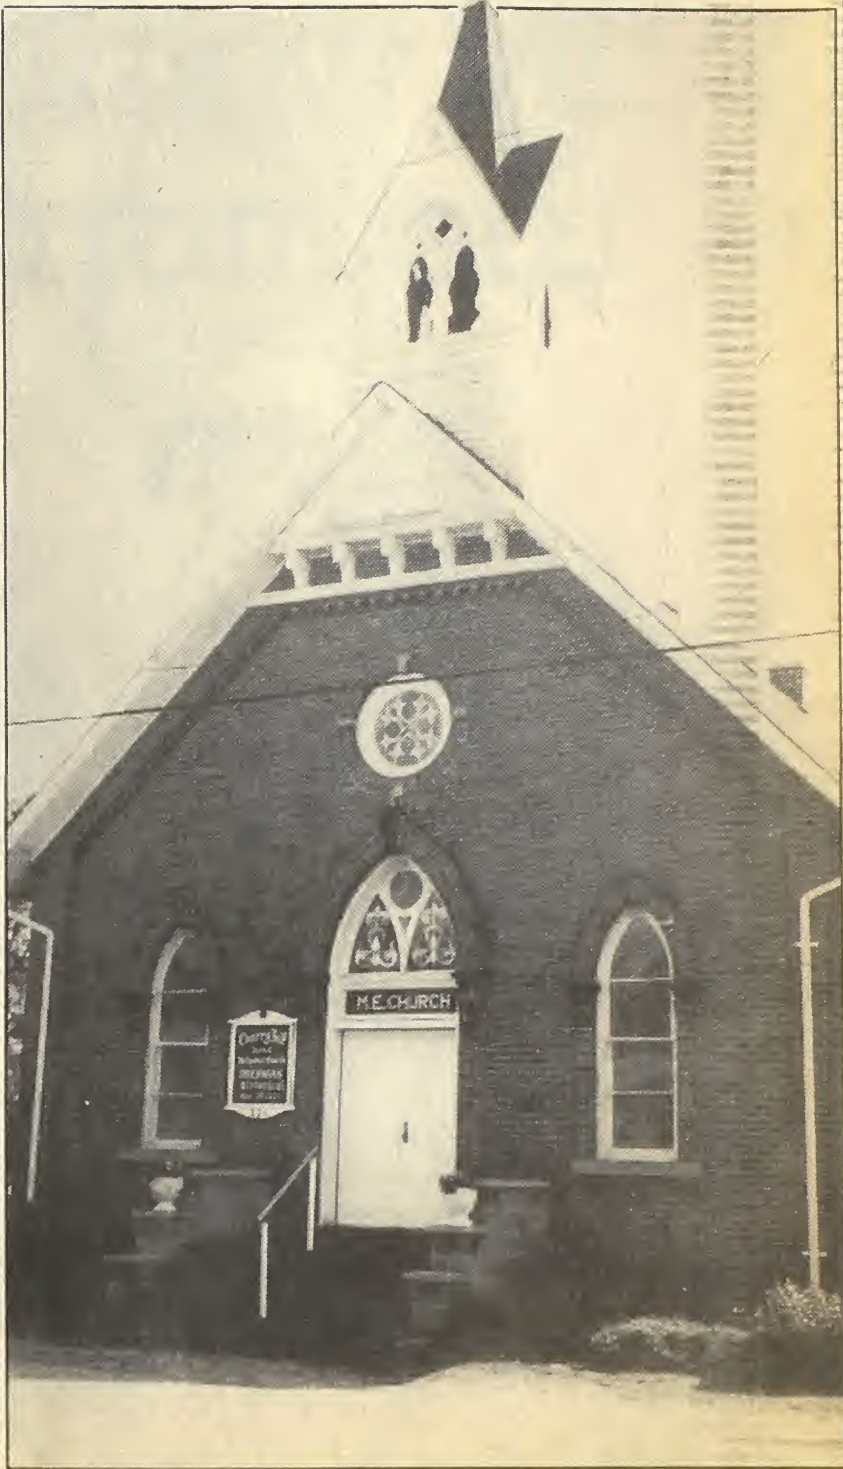

Pastor Dan Wallace said the only remnant from the old red church is a bell that now rests on the center the church lawn at the side of the building.

"It cost $600 to build the church back then, and that was a lot of money. The new church was built in 1956 on the same site," Wallace said.

Dorothy West, director of the Canton museum and a historical commission member, said that the oldest congregation in Canton Township is the Cherry Hill United Methodist. It was established in 1834.

One of the first church buildings erected in the area can be found at the corner of Main and Third Street in Belleville. The building now houses a real estate office.

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne (left) will celebrate its 125th anniversary on Oct. 3. Cherry Hill United Methodist Church, (above) built in 1882, is a local landmark. ANP photos by Mike Cardew/staff photographer

We want to collar a few good men.

The Archdiocese of Detroit has a job to do. We know some people who are facing tough choices in life who need good advice. We know some people who are facing no choices who still need hope. We know a lot of great kids who need a place to be kids, and maybe someone to bring the ball or the music. We know a few older people who are going to die whether or not someone is there to bring them peace.

All over the Archdiocese there are people who need a place to count their blessings and share their sorrows—people who need a hand, or a shoulder to lean on, or sometimes just an ear.

At Sacred Heart Seminary we're teaching young men to use the hands and shoulders and ears and hearts God gave them. It's a great education. A college degree. Graduate work. We'll give you up to eight years to decide you really want to be a priest before we ask you to do it for good.

Sure, the hours are long. But they're flexible. And if you come to work here, you'll get rich in ways few people can imagine.

Not everyone can do the job. If you think you can, call us. We can't call you.

We Invite God Calls

The work is hard. But the rewards are infinite.

Freshman wins big at Huron

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A tired but elated Valentine Stumpf, running in her first major high school invitational, captured a gold medal in the 18-team Huron cross country invitational staged on Saturday at Willow Metro Park.

The 14-year-old Belleville freshman toured the 5,000 kilometer course in 20.08 to put her claim on first place and help stake the Tigers to a fourth place overall finish.

"It felt good to win," an exhausted Stumpf said a few minutes after she crossed the finish line. "In fact, it feels great."

The 90-pound, 5-4 newcomer to the high school cross country scene added that she loves to race and became interested in distance running when she won a field day event while attending elementary school.

"She's an outstanding talent," said Belleville Coach Dave Medley who, with colleague Peg Curtis, is training this year's boys and girls' teams. "She is a natural runner."

Belleville had two other medalists. They are Ann Courtney, who finished 25th in 23:15, and Laura Alberts, who posted a time of 23:30 for a 28th place. Other Belleville finishers included Becky Brown, (41) and Mitzi Herkimer (52).

Trenton won the team title, followed by Carlson, Monroe, then Belleville.

Belleville finished fifth in a field of 18 teams in the boys division. Brian Koch paced the Tigers with a 17:27 effort - good for 16th place. Teammates Matt Fisher and Rob Gray hit the wire in 17:36 and 17:42, the 21st and 25th best times in the meet. Gary Griffin and Chris Robinitis were 28th and 63rd.

Monroe runners piled up 28 points to win the team championship. Ypsilanti was runner up (89), followed by Centerline (118), Dearborn Divine Child (127), and Belleville (153) in a field that included 12 other area teams.

Medley was pleased with his team's performances.

"There were some runners who managed to break into the varsity lineup for the first time and taking that into consideration they handled themselves fairly well. And this meet was the first opportunity we had this year to run."

Belleville boys and girls will be hitting the invitational trail again this week.

Dead end

Detoured from the victory column in their three outings this season, Romulus High Eagles come home for the first time Friday night to clash with Temperance Bedford, a team that is also ailing. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. at the Eagle home field at Wick Junior High on Wick Rd. ANP photo by Phil Slaughter.

Robichaud has recovered from rocky start

Freshman tailback scores 5 TDs, including record 94-yarder

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After getting off to a rocky start, Robichaud has apparently put the pieces together and won its second consecutive football victory at the expense of Suburban Athletic Conference rival, Ecorse.

With freshman tailback Tyrone Wheatley exploding for five touchdowns including a record-setting 94-yard jaunt, Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs buried the Red Raiders from Ecorse, 52-0. Friday afternoon playing before the home crowd for the first time this season. It was the SAC opener for the victors who had split in their non-conference opener earlier this month.

Robichaud dropped its 1987 season opener to Birmingham

Country Day, the defending Class B state champ, 29-0, then rebounded last week to beat Hamtramck St. Florian, 34-0.

"I was really pleased with the overall performance of our team," said Yauck who will take his charges up against

"He (Wheatley) is an exciting runner . . . and could develop into one of the finest ballcarriers in the history of this school and the area."

Robichaud coach

Oak Park Friday. "We received an exceptional effort out of our freshman tailback (Tyrone Wheatley) and, if he continues on the path he has taken, he could develop into the best ballcarrier in the history of this school."

The 6-1, 185-pound Wheatley staked the Bulldogs to a 22-0 first period and, from there on, the only question about the outcome of the game was how big of a margin of victory the Bulldogs would finish with. They led 38-0 at halftime.

Wheatley scored on runs of 2, 32, 1, 3 and 94. The latter was an off tackle slant that erased former Robichaud halfback Jarvis Walker's 1984 record of 90 yards from the ledger. Wheatley finished the afternoon with a phenomenal 167 yards on only 13 attempts.

Teammate Gary Johnson accounted for the final two TDs. He had a 62-yarder and

Romulus grid team shows 'true grit'

There's a saying that "it's easy to play when you're on a winning team."

But, you show your "true grit" when you're losing. If that is so, the never-say-die Romulus High varsity football team is proving that they will never give up.

Take, for example, Friday's encounter with Adrian. Trailing 41-0 in the final quarter, Coach Norb Glover's Eagles refused to quit and remained determined not to be shutout.

And they weren't.

With less than three minutes left, quarterback Dave Blandford put together a sustained drive that culminated with running back Oral Trinity driving through the Adrian line of defense for a seven-yard touchdown. Trinity and Blandford combined on a 30-yard pass to set up the TD.

However, when the final whistle blew, the Eagles had digested their third consecutive setback, 41-6.

"These kids showed a lot of sheer determination in that second half," noted Glover whose next test comes in the form of a hungry-for-victory Temperance Bedford club. "We proved that we can move the ball in the second half and, hopefully, the momentum will carry over to our next game."

Adrian had put the game out of reach early as they jumped to a 20-0 first quarter and held the cutting edge over the Eagles, 35-0, at the half time mark. Romulus's defense gave up only one TD in the second half, and that came midway in the third period.

Trinity and fullback Ali Campbell, a sophomore, were the bright spots in the Eagle's defeat. Randy Champagne also stood out on defense. The senior middle linebacker counted eight solos before the game was over.

"We're young and as I stated before the season, we're building for the future," Glover pointed out. "I believe we showed a marked improvement in that second half and I feel we are going to win our share of games before this is all over with."

"They proved that they can move the ball. Our kids don't give up easy. They're tough."

-Norb Glover
Romulus coach

Schedule change

Because the Wolverine 'A' Conference has decided to stage "double dual meets" instead of dual meets this season, the published high school schedules for cross country do not have the updated information.

Therefore, cross country fans are urged to check with the high school athletic departments before traveling to the meet to insure accuracy.

Michael Colletta, athletic director at Belleville High, explained the reason-

"You're allowed only 15 meets a year in cross country and if we run every one in our league, that's seven meets right there," Colletta said. "To get more exposure for our teams, we decided to hold quads."

Beware of Bulldogs

Unbeaten Robichaud runner is key to cross country title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although Robichaud probably has the number one runner in the Suburban Athletic Conference in Eugene O'Neil, the central attraction of Jim Hadley's cross country team this year appears to be Margie Curto.

Curto, a 16-year-old junior, is running with the boys (because the high school doesn't have a girls' team) and many of her teammates can't keep the pace of this fast-stepping young lady.

"She's tough," said Hadley who has coached cross country at the high school for the past 10 years. "If she had not sustained a leg injury, she would have probably qualified for state. We're looking for her to make it to the state this year."

Curto has toured the 5,000 kilometers in an excellent 22 minutes flat.

Nicknamed "Tite" by his teammates, O'Neil has been clocked for the three-mile in 17 minutes, and he has an excellent chance of bettering last year's record.

"We have a pretty solid

"O'Neil was undefeated in SAU dual meets a year ago, and he should be equally strong this season, barring any injuries."

— Robichaud coach

However, O'Neil (yes, they kid him about being the novelist reincarnated as a harrier) returns to the field with an untarnished dual meet record and the favorite to win the individual SAC crown.

team," Hadley said, "and with the number one runner returning we have an excellent chance at winning the conference title." However, to dethrone Highland Park, the Bulldogs will have to remain healthy. Oh, yes, they also will have to fight off River Rouge, which also has designs on the 1987 title.

The Bulldogs also have in their lineup a few other notables including sophomore Phil Tachar, who lettered a year ago; Mike Klix, a senior who has the potential to develop into an excellent runner; Frank Hayes, a sophomore who has been clocked in 18:30 during the time trials. Add to the list, Randall James, one of the top quarter-milers who is building up his endurance on the 3-mile course, and Robichaud does have the makings of a title-winning team.

yes to life!

There's more to life than a vial of pills, or a needle, or some white powder. But when you're hooked on drugs, that's all that your life becomes. It doesn't take much to see the writing on the wall. OFFICIATING CLASSES ARE being offered state wide for a variety of sports. In the area, the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor is the site of classes in football, basketball, baseball, softball, volleyball and soccer; Milan Community Education Department in Milan offers football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, wrestling, hockey, softball and volleyball; and Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti offers basketball, softball and volleyball. In all of the classes, National Federation rules are studied, and upon successful completion of the course, students can become registered officials with the Michigan High School Athletic Association. Further information regarding these classes is available by calling (517) 332-5046 or by contacting the facility which offers the class.

A PUNT, PASS AND Kick Contest is being sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department for boys and girls ages 8 to 13. Registration starts at 9:30 a.m., and the competition will be at 10 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 3 at Griffin Park on the Sheldon Road side. Each participant will try one punt, pass and kick and will be judged on distance and accuracy. Participants must wear tennis shoes only — no cleats or turf shoes will be allowed. Further information is available by calling 397-5110.

THE CITY OF INKSTER Parks and Recreation Department basketball season for 1987-88 has been set. The adult men's basketball league will be located at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, Inkster. Practice will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9. Dec. 21 is the deadline for the $250 entry fee, and league play begins at 6 p.m. Jan. 4 at the recreation complex. Further information regarding the program is available by calling Ruth E. Williams, athletic supervisor, at 728-7530 between 1 and 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE MICHIGAN HIGH SCHOOL Athletic Association is working in cooperation with the Institute for the Study of Youth Sports at Michigan State University to develop an in-service program to help train non-teachers who are leading school athletic teams. Approximately 25 percent of interscholastic coaches in Michigan have never completed a teacher's certification program, which diminishes the idea of the athletic field as an extension of the classroom learning experience, according to program sponsors. A three-level program for coaches has been developed by the Institute for the Study of Youth Sports that will address the problems and concerns stemming from the increasing numbers of non-faculty coaches. This program will be presented at five locations throughout the state during the 1987-88 school year. Included in the workshops are a variety of topics, including the medical and legal aspects of sports, modern training and conditioning techniques, principles of effective instruction, sports skills and the rules and procedures of the MHSAA. There is a $50 fee for the workshop, which includes materials. For information regarding the dates and locations of the workshops, contact Vern Seefeldt, Room 213 IM Sports-Circle, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48224. Or call (517) 353-6689.

MAURICE SMITH, OF Inkster, a free safety for the Western Illinois Leathernecks, was named "Special Teams Player of the Week" by WIU coaches for his efforts during the team 48-9 win over Arkansas Tech. Sept. 5. Smith, a senior, celebrated the first game of the new season by returning four punts for 74 yards, including a 38-yard runback and taking part in 43 defensive plays, in which he recorded six tackles, including one for a loss.

ONLY ONE EVENT REMAINS on the Flat Rock Speedway 1987 schedule. Beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27, a 250-lap Enduro will close out the season at the one-quarter-mile paved oval. A near-to-full field of 125 junkyard-bound cars and drivers is assured for the afternoon event. Some local drivers are making a good showing in the 1987 ARCA Point Standings (as of Sept. 8). In the late model drivers' class, Chuck Silva of Wayne is in 17th place with 455 points. In the figure-8 drivers' class, Dennis Pace of Canton is in second place with 1,760 points; Ray Gaddis of Romulus is in sixth place with 1,350 points; Robbie Loving of Romulus is in eighth place with 1,305 points; and John Briggs of Belleville is in 19th place with 320 points. In the street stock drivers' category, Dan Leppen of Romulus is in fourth place with 1,690 points; Larry Traffant of Canton is in 11th place with 1,170 points; Steve Cronenwett of Westland is in 12th place with 1,025 points; and Link Burdon of Westland is in 17th place with 535 points.

A perfect team?

Huron girls' cage team is closest thing to it

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The perfect basketball team. Is there such a thing, or is it a creature of a coach's imagination?

Well, New Boston Huron's girls' basketball team probably is the closest thing to that "perfect team". Anyway, it appears that way during the early phase of the 1987 campaign.

Coach Bill Harrison's Chiefs are a perfect 4-0 on the year after humiliating Woodhaven, 80-26, last Tuesday, then returning to the court for a lopsided 85-38 victory over Erie Mason.

"We are playing hard," said Harrison whose club opened the conference (Huron) phase of the season last night against highly-touted Carlson. They will run up against Airport on Thursday. "I have to be pleased with them at this stage of the game. Everything appears to be falling into place."

But the Huron coach warned that "everyone will be gunning for us because we have been set up as the team to beat."

Huron enjoys the return of all five starters from last year's team that finished second to Grosse Ile in the conference, then went on to capture a Class B district championship.

The Chiefs enjoyed a field day against Woodhaven, rolling to a 43-18 first half behind a balanced scoring assault led by Pam Hughes, Deane Patterson, Lori LaBeau, and Laurel Haener.

Hughes topped all scorers with 19 rebounds, hauled down five rebounds and five assists: Patterson chipped in 14 points while she was credited with seven rebounds. LaBeau, groomed as one of the finest guards in the conference, finished with 13 points and had eight assists and four rebounds;

Haener counted 10 points and an equal number of rebounds.

Against Mason, it was nearly the same story - the Chiefs raced to a 49-25 edge at the halfway point, then finished off their non-conference rivals, 85-38. All five starters broke into the two-figures scoring column. However, it was Tracie Keith who sparked with a three-point show, connecting on five of them in her 21-point night. LaBeau led the field with 22, while Hughes had 15, Haener, 13, and Patterson finished with 12.

In the meantime, a rebuild (See PERFECT, page 4-C)

Better, much better...

However, Belleville High's best football performance of the 1987 campaign was not enough to stop Trenton Friday night.

After committing crucial defensive errors in the first quarter and giving up 12 points, Coach Dave McCarney's Tigers roared back to "win the next three quarters", but lost a 12-9 Wolverine "A" Conference verdict.

"We played a much improved ball game," McCarney said. "They (Trenton) won the first two quarters, and we came back and dominated the final three. However, in the final analysis, it's still goes into our lost column."

Trenton got on the scoreboard midway in the first quarter when quarterback Dean Heavrin capped an 11-play, 35-yard drive with an 18-yard touchdown run. That score, coming on the Trojans' first possession, was pulled off at 6:33. Then, after a Belleville drive fizzled, Trenton came back with the aid of a pass interference call, slapped on the Tigers when the Trojans were facing a third down and 35-yards-to-go situation.

"That penalty obviously hurt us. In fact, it proved fatal," explained McCarney. "They came back and scored. If you take that TD away, we had them."

But Heavrin came back with a fourth-down pass completion that landed the Trojans on the Belleville 4-yard line, and the Trojans managed to go in from there.

Facing a 12-0 deficit, Belleville got its first big break when the Trojan punt receiver fumbled and Rod Schellenberger recovered for the Tigers at the Trojan 15. Six plays later quarterback Eric Schubert combined with Ray Lewis on a 9-yard touchdown pass.

Trenton countered on its next series with an eight-play drive which ended when Chico Crout fumbled another Trojan miscue, erasing the threat.

However, Belleville reciprocated on the very first play from scrimmage with a fumble recovered by the Trojans. Tony Bellinger managed to kill Trenton (See TIGERS, page 4-C)

Belleville golfers, Huron runners win

Belleville continued to look impressive on the golf courses last week as Coach Ted Grignon's Tigers carded a pair of victories at the expense of Wolverine "A" Conference opponents.

Playing at Riverview Highland, Belleville emerged with a 191 total in a quadrangular conference meet which included Wayne Memorial, Fordson and Southgate Anderson.

Wayne won the quad with a team total of 173, followed by the Tigers who finished in second, six strokes ahead of third-place finishing Anderson (197). Fordson turned in with 204.

Although the meet was a quadrangular, the scores are counted as if the matches were dual meets, explained Grignon. "Each score is counted individually, therefore, we posted two victories (against Fordson and Southgate) but lost to Wayne."

Craig Atchinson fired a 45 for nine holes to emerge as Belleville's medalist. Teammate Marc Liskey was three strokes back with 48, while Scott Conrad and Eric Johnson posted 49s for the Tigers.

Playing their best overall game of the season, Belleville edged neighboring rival, Romulus, 175-177, as Johnson turned in a five-over-par 41 at Shady Hollow for medalist honors. Teammates Ray Domen and Atchinson checked in with 42 and 46, respectively, while Liskey had a 47.

Inclement weather washed out the Gabriel Richard Invitational (Scramble) on Friday as golfers took shelter from the torrential rains. Invitational officials couldn't say whether the meet will be rescheduled at a later date.

In the meantime, New Boston Huron girls stayed undefeated in cross country as Coach Jeff Okler's runners turned back Riverview 18-41. The Chiefs finished 1-2-3 with Lindsay Wendel (23.00), Kim Scaici (23.54) and Dawn Swick (24.25). Huron also defeated Flat Rock 20-39, again with Wendel crossing the finish line first with a 22.10. Scaici was next with a 22.13 effort.

Player of the Week

Lewis Davis

Wayne Memorial football player Lewis Davis, who caught a nine-yard touchdown pass against Southgate Friday, is the "Player of the Week."

Davis, who also carried the ball 13 times for 106 yards, has been a starter at linebacker for Coach Chuck Howton for the past two seasons.

"He is quite a talented defensive player," said Howton. "And he isn't a bad offensive player either."

Belleville shut out in Tennis

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville is learning that no love is lost when it comes to competition.

Fielding their first tennis team in nearly half-a-century, the Tigers didn't expect and didn't receive any mercy from their opponents as they dropped their first two matches to Wolverine 'A' Conference rivals last week. Coach Susan McCarney's netters fell 7-0 to Trenton last Tuesday in their historic first match of the season, then, on Thursday, lost by an identical score to Monroe.

"I understand the pressures of winning," said McCarney, "but I hope people don't forget that these girls are new at this. In fact, you wouldn't believe the improvement in this team in just two weeks. They're doing a tremendous job."

Belleville has a busy schedule ahead. The Tigers were at home to Fordson on Monday, then hosted Southgate last night before traveling to Wayne Memorial on Thursday. All three games are in the conference.

Against Monroe, Belleville's number one stick, Kelly Luman dropped sets of 6-3, 6-2, to Rosanne Spillson, while teammates Lena Widener also faltered against Melissa Mella, 6-0, 6-0, in the number two singles. Krita VanAllen gave Monroe's third singles, Margie Myland, a battle before falling 6-2, 6-1, and in the number four bracket, Kelly Robertson was no match for Jennie Miller.

Monroe also swept the doubles competition.

Fallen Eagles

Tumbling over fallen Eagles, Romulus' Dave Blandford picks up some yardage, but not enough for the first down. Coach Norb Glover's charges are looking for their first win after three starts and hope Friday night's home field will give them the edge over visiting Temperance. ANP photo by Paul Slaughter

Huron Chiefs crash at Airport, 28-0

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

"We were dominated. Played poorly, while they played fundamentally sound football."

That's how New Boston Huron football coach Tom LaBeau described the Chiefs' 28-0 shellacking at the hands of undefeated Airport Friday night.

"The facts and stats speak for themselves," LaBeau continued. "We didn't do anything offensively, and defensively they scored on us in each of the first three quarters."

The best the Chiefs could do offensively was John Tackett's 50 yards he grounded out in nine carries. The Chiefs finished with 172 yards, but they failed to penetrate beyond the Airport 40-yard line the entire second half.

The loss dipped Huron's conference record to 0-2 on the year. They are 1-2 overall on the season.

The Chiefs got the message early when Airport fullback Bill Bondy scampered 43 yards on the first play of scrimmage for a touchdown. He almost went through the Huron defense untouched. Airport made it a 14-0 ball game at half time and added a pair of third period insurance TDs.

It's out of the proverbial frying pan into the boiling pot for the Chiefs this week as they clash with undefeated Riverview (3-0). The Pirates have singled out the Huron game for their "homecoming."

"They (Riverview) don't make many mistakes," LaBeau noted. "And they will be sky high because it's their homecoming. If we don't buckle down and thoroughly learn our assignments, it's going to be a long evening."

And Riverview also is standing atop of the conference standings, sharing the spotlight with Monroe Catholic Central.

ton's next drive when he picked off a Heavrin pass at the Belleville four-yard line.

"The defense made some very big plays after a slow start," McCarney said.

Belleville's defense shut out Trenton the second half, again, with Crout, Schellenberger, and cousins Tony and Dubon Bellinger coming through with some key plays.

After the Tigers kicked off to Trenton to begin the third quarter, Heavrin again strung together a seven-play drive which Crout terminated with his second interception, this time at the Tiger six. In fact, Crout had muscled himself loose from the Trojan defense and was on his way to a touchdown when Heavrin made the ly proved to be a game-winning tackle.

Schubert managed to march the Tigers from the 42, picking up two first downs in this series, to the Trenton 15 before a penalty stalled them at the 15. "I considered going for a field goal, but it would have to be kicked from over 30 yards out and I didn't think it was a good gamble at this time," McCarney said.

Belleville got a safety in the last period when Dubon Bellinger nailed Heavrin behind the goal line.

"Our defense was 100 percent improved, and Gary (Schubert) has earned the job at quarterback," McCarney later said. "And, I believe we played well enough to win, despite our mistakes."

Belleville piled up 91 yards rushing on 33 carries and had eight first downs.

Crout finished with six solo tackles, eight assists, along with the interception and fumble recoveries. McCarney had plenty of praise for the secondary which "got the job done."

Belleville travels to Monroe Friday night in hopes of breaking a three-game losing streak. Monroe beat Wayne Memorial 21-20 but has dropped a league game to Lincoln Park and a non-conference decision to Adrian.

"Monroe has an excellent fullback and a split end who are capable of making the big plays," said McCarney. "If we can stop them from making those plays and make them earn everything they get, then I believe we can beat them."

Perfect

Romulus cage machine was no match for Adrian which spoiled the Eagles and Coach Ron Bayes's debut in the South Central Conference, 48-15.

"They just had too much overall strength for us," said Hayes whose team is now 1-1 on the year after beating Wayne Memorial in the non-league opener 35-32.

Bayes, who lost six seniors that compiled a 12-9 record a year ago, is trying to fill the void with underclassmen "who need to get used to combat before we develop into a club to be reckoned with."

The Eagles do have back 6-1 senior Renie McNeil, who started a year ago and has been designated as captain. Then there is 6-3 junior, Lori Berlinn, who Bayes said is the best center he has had the pleasure of coaching.

"But she needs to get aggressive." Also a promising starlet is Carlette Jackson, a 5-6 guard, who knows her way around the court. Bayes is looking to three sophomore guards: Malika Williams (5-2), Rochelle Hawk (5-5) and Tara Tyus (5-8) for help.

Williams was the key in the victory over Wayne as she came off the bench and helped the Eagles break the Zebra press. Wayne held a six-point edge at the half (17-11).

case at Romulus High where Coach Dan Henry is struggling to put together a lineup that can compete in the tough South Central Conference. The Eagles officially opened in their new conference last Thursday and came out on the shortend of a 16-45 decision with Ypsilanti.

Tim Gondek, a junior, was the best of the Eagle runners, finishing in 21.52, good for seventh place.

Henry also has Kurt Martin, a junior, Alan Hudson, a senior, and Diya Muhammed getting into shape for the grueling campaign.

"We have our work cut out for us," he said. "We don't have the numbers or the experience to compete in this league this year."

There are six girls: Kathy Swisher, Lisa McClure, Renee

Hardt, Susan Rocha, Lisa Roy, and Sweden's gift to Romulus High, Ericka Nielson, combining their talents on this year's team. Ypsilanti, however, dominated the opener, 16-49, with McClure finishing seventh for the home town runners in 24.54.

Fall leagues 'off and rolling'

bowling

Members of the fall leagues are off and bowling, local alley owners report, and already a long list of high-series and high-scores are being compiled.

Each week, the Associated Newspapers will in this space feature the bowling accomplishments of residents in the areas served by this newspaper. From 700 series, 200 and higher games and perfect scores to the wild and crazy antics on the lanes, we want to hear about them all.

Local bowling alley owners and league secretaries are being asked to compile this information, and a representative of the newspaper will call each week. Don't hold anything back... we, and our readers, want to hear about the bowling accomplishments of everyone.

For more information, call Ray Day, managing editor, at 729-4000.

Bowling highlights for the week of Sept. 13 to 20 include:

LODGE LANES, 46255 Willow Run Expressway, Belleville - Greg Harris, of Taylor, rolled a 711 score for a three-game series Sept. 6. It was his first series higher than 700; Roland Rajda, of Belleville, took a 722 series on Friday; and Bob Jawor, of Belleville, knocked over enough pins to net him a 290 game and 736 series.

TOWNE & COUNTRY LANES, 1100 S. Wayne Road, Westland - Ron Lanczki, of Westland, rolled a 708 series; Estes Bobozy, of Ypsilanti, knocked down a 709 three-game score; Joe Bartos, of Westland, scored a 702 series; Dan Harrison, of Wayne, earned an impressive 739 score for three games; and Cindy Adkins, of Westland, netted a 598 three-game series. All scores were earned in league play.

Send in the sports news

Dear Reader:

This issue marks the second week of our new and improved coverage of local sporting events. But "you ain't seen nothing yet."

This week we have added coverage of local bowling teams, and we are asking for help from all readers to provide us with the scores and the information you want to see.

Last week, I asked readers to call me if they had any additional ideas that would aid us in our efforts to make the sports pages - and the entire newspaper - the best around. One dedicated reader did call, and thanks to his concern, we have added the two Lutheran high schools in the areas to our list of schools to cover each week.

If you have new ideas, story suggestions or simple comments on the job we are doing, give me a call, write a letter or stop by our offices.

At the Associated Newspapers, we don't want to be good. We want to be the best!

RICHARD P. JOHNSON of Corona Drive in Inkster, recently attended a national sales conference sponsored by A.A.L., a fraternal benefit society based in Appleton, Wis. Johnson attended the Presidents Cabinet, Palm Dessert, Calif. He was selected from among 2,000 district representatives on the basis of his outstanding sales and service during the last marketing year. Johnson is an associate of the Merl L. Terry Agency of A.A.L., Plymouth.

JOYCE MEHL, SALES secretary with USAir in Southfield, recently participated in an intensive three-day seminar on management in Cambridge, Mass., sponsored by the National Institute of Certified Travel Agents. Mehl, a Westland resident, is active in the institute, which awards the certified travel counselor designation to industry professionals. Five years of full-time travel industry experience, four graduate-level courses, a special project and four four-hour exams must be completed to qualify for the certification.

THE SOFT CLOTH Boys really cleaned up for the Michigan March of Dimes during the August fundraiser. In one day they netted more than $17,000 for the fight against birth defects. Participating car washes, such as Lighthouse Car Wash in Canton, offered 99 cent car washes and then donated $1 for every car they washed! The Soft Cloth Boys Association is a regular contributor to the March of Dimes.

THE 3M COMPANY HAS announced the opening of the first Export Sales Office in the state of Michigan. The new venture will be located in Southfield and will employ Keith Olivares. Olivares, his wife Brenda and their two young children have been residents of Canton for more than nine years. Olivares, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University recently accepted the sales position with U.S. Export Sales, International Division of 3M Company. his previous assignment with the company was in the safety and security division.

THE EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH at the Westland Convalescent Center is Sandy Haman, who is employed as a laundry assistant. Haman, who has lived in the Wayne-Westland area her entire life, is well liked by everyone she comes in contact with at the center, according to workers there. Said one co-worker, she is "... dependable and hard-working."

Technical students will transport students to class

The Michigan Paraprofessional Training Institute is a school that is proud of its success as well as its students.

The goal of any school is to see its graduates find jobs in which they were trained, said Donald Garrison, field representative for MPTI.

"No one can guarantee a student a job," said Garrison. "But we are very proud of our placement record."

MPTI boasts a 95-percent job placement record. They also have a 95-percent success rate on the national registry exam.

"We're extremely proud of that," said Garrison. "In our schools, 95 percent of our graduates who have completed our programs pass this test."

Programs at the facility consist of a seven-month medical assisting program, a two-year medical laboratory technician program, a seven-month medical word processor-receptionist program and a seven-month dental assisting program.

The institute, which was founded in 1973 by current president Michael Prendes, has schools in Romulus, Oak Park and Roseville.

The Romulus school began operation in 1980 and is located on Smith Road near Middlebelt profile

Road and I-94.

Garrison said an advantage their graduates have is experience in the work force.

"Our medical and dental assistants are required to work five weeks in a hospital or clinic where they get firsthand experience," said Garrison.

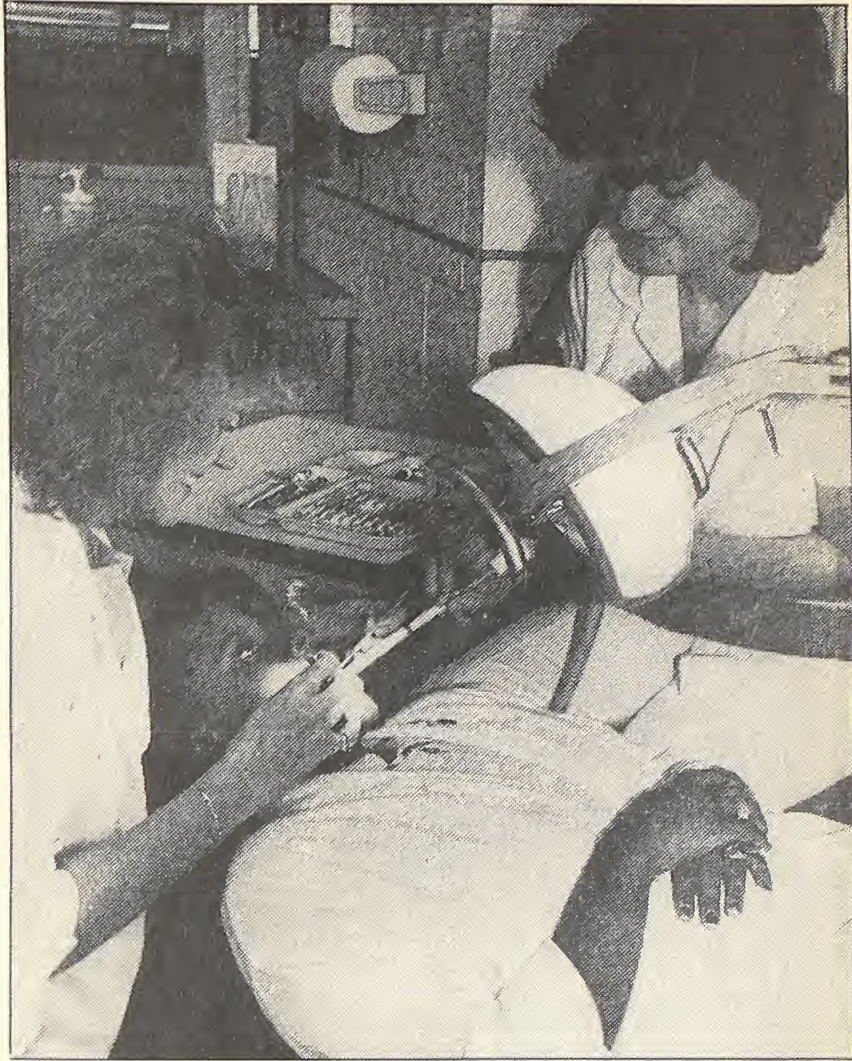

"Part of our two-year medical laboratory technicians program requires the student to work six months in a laboratory or a hospital. This job is eight hours a day, five days a week. They get a lot of valuable experience in this time."

The school offers financial aid programs, Pell Grants, guaranteed student loans, in-house student grants and placement assistance.

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority will provide transportation to the school from different locations along Middlebelt Road including Schoolcraft Road, Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

"A lot of work went into getting that completed," said Garrison. "It certainly will help out with regards to transportation for our students."

The health care school is licensed by the State of Michigan.

'Market appears to be fragmented'

It is difficult to say anything positive about the current stock market conditions. The market seems to be fragmented and confused.

Large capitalized issues, which were previously considered safe havens, are now under selling pressure. Secondary issues, which have not participated in the recent market rally, are still flat. It is difficult to find the reason to support recent discount rate increase.

With all of the confusion, cash is starting to look very good! The selling pressure on interest sensitive issues is starting to abate. Gold and silver prices will develop a slight upward bias.

For this week, the short-term

traders will start this session on the buy-side. They will be trying to take advantage of what appears to be a firming market. However, as the session unfolds, market weakness will allow them to move to the sidelines, closing out current positions and moving to cash. Long-term traders are still willing buyers of issues with strong fundamentals, reasonable P.E. ratios and those depressed from their recent highs.

For this week, the market will show several of its many facets. On the very fragile foundation it built from last Friday, the market may attempt a rally. However, any strength may bring in selling activity, and by late in the session, downward price pressure may overcome all buying enthusiasm.

TREND: This is now the time to start to accumulate high-yielding, interest-sensitive investments. By investing now, you could be rewarded with both high yields and capital appreciation. Great potential opportunities may be here now with sound savings and loan stocks, insurance companies and some selected utilities.

NOTE: Ford and the UAW reach a tentative agreement on a new contract; Dart Group proposes to buy out Dayton Hudson for $65 per share; Retail sales surged 1.3 percent in August, while industrial production rose 3 percent; Trade deficit grew to a record $16.47 billion in July; Current account deficit swelled to a record 41.1 billion in the second quarter.

Market "Averages": DOW2524.63; TRANS1013.82; UTIL194.16; NYA176.37; S&P314.86; XVL275.58; OEX388.38; AMEX XM1497.18

In price, a Lincoln Town Car may be "What a Luxury Car Should Be." By comparison, the new Sterling 825S is what a luxury car should be in everything but price. Giving you luxury for $5,408 less.

So if you're thinking of an Audi 5000S, test drive the new Sterling 825S. It's the car for people who are "ready for an Audi" but not ready to pay so much extra for the privilege of buying one.

With $19,200 to invest, you shouldn't pay a luxury price and still end up driving a Toyota. So if you're thinking of a Toyota Cressida, test drive the new Sterling. For $19,200 you won't have to "ask for anything more."

Sterling From $19,200*

Lease Sterling from $299.

No Down Payment

*Manufacturer's suggested retail prices and equipment listed for both cars are based on information available on the base model's P.O.E. price at the time of printing. Option prices are manufacturer's suggested retail prices and are in addition to base car prices. Actual Sterling prices set by dealer with taxes, destination, dealer preparation, and other dealer charges extra. Prices may change without notice.

This offer is available only for participating Sterling dealers as a 66-month, closed-end lease with monthly payments of $299.00 for a total of lease payments of $19,735. End of term purchase option of $7,062 and early termination purchase option at lease balance plus $150.00. End of term liability for mileage in excess of 15,000 miles per year is based on local used vehicle value guide plus wear and tear, and lessee is liable for a $250.00 disposition fee. First month $299.00 payment and $300.00 security deposit for a total of $599.00 are required in advance. Monthly payments are based on manufacturer's suggested retail price and special lease terms extended by Marine Midland Automotive Financial Corp. Actual prices set by dealer. Taxes, license, destination, dealer prep, options and other dealer charges extra. Prices and terms may change without notice.

The Sterling 825S is one of the world's great cars, partly because it wasn't built "regardless of price." So if you're thinking of a Volvo 740 GLE, test drive the new Sterling 825S. It's "a car you can believe in" at a price you can believe in, too.

Over three thousand dollars extra is a lot to pay for three initials. So why pay $22,850 for a BMW - and still have "the hollow feeling of having settled for less?"

Both are intelligently-built cars. But the Sterling's appeal is tangible and physical, not just intellectual. So if you're thinking about a Saab 9000S, test drive the new Sterling 825S. It's a $3045 smarter buy that "the most intelligent car ever built."
